

Fleming Quits Saanch Council

Will Continue 'As a Ratepayer'
To Press Gravel Pit Charges

Robert Fleming resigned from Saanich council Wednesday night in order to continue, as a private citizen, to press for re-organization of the administration of the municipality.

ROBERT FLEMING

His resignation came during a heated discussion of management of the municipal gravel pit at a special meeting called by Reeve Joseph Casey.

Fleming had accused the engineering department of failing to keep full written accounts for large quantities of gravel taken from the municipal pit.

He estimated that about 200,000 yards have not been accounted for.

The former councillor said "unless changes in the management of the handling of affairs of the municipality are effected I can no longer serve any useful purpose as councillor."

Fleming strongly objected to a written report by municipal engineer H. D. Dawson who described Mr. Fleming's charges as "entirely ridiculous" and "purely imaginary."

He scribbled his resignation on the council table before a silent group of spectators.

He told the council he bore no malice towards anyone.

Spectators grasped his hands as he withdrew from the table. They told him he should not have resigned. One woman wept.

EXPLOSIVE MEETING

The explosive meeting also heard an outburst from spectator William Robertson, a contractor, who charged Reeve Casey with "bulldozing" the council.

"You think you are the whole cheese here," he said.

The reeve ordered a policeman to shout at Mr. Robertson who shouted at the reeve: "You haven't the guts to do it yourself."

Fleming, whose term of office did not expire until next year, was the council's strongest critic of the administration system of Saanich.

He had planned to request a special meeting next week to question municipal officials with regard to a deficit facing the $2,100,000 sewage system.

He was responsible for work on the project being suspended after the municipal engineer informed a council committee he did not know the amount of the deficit.

FOUR VACANCIES

Mr. Fleming's resignation means there will be four vacant seats to be contested in the December elections.

He said he did not intend to seek re-election in the December elections.

"I would only run if there is a petition from ratepayers," he said.

But I think I have done my duty to bring attention to the ratepayers on how things are managed at the municipal hall."

He said his sole purpose in entering municipal politics was to see for himself how the affairs of taxpayers were managed.

"I've seen enough," he said. "I had no intentions of running again next year."

Here are the main developments from the meeting:

1. The engineer admitted that

SWIMMER IN VANCOUVER

Toronto's famed long-distance swimmer is guest of honor at the mainland city's Grey Cup festival. Despite being on holiday Marilyn brought along three days' homework. She is taking a college course specializing in physiotherapy.

'HOMEWORK COMES FIRST'

Marilyn Interested In Strait Attempt

BY BILL WALKER
Times Sports Editor

VANCOUVER, B.C.—Swimming star Marilyn Bell, as charming as her record, "would like very much to try the Strait of Juan de Fuca."

"I'm receptive to the opportunity," Marilyn said, "but my schoolwork comes first at the moment."

"But it is a challenge," she quickly added.

Still it doesn't appear at the present time that Marilyn will make any definite commitments in this regard until next summer.

"First I have my schoolwork to think about," said Marilyn. "I'm interested in physiotherapy, and find the course extremely hard. I am taking special teaching at night and dearly want to graduate in June before I attempt or think of any more swims."

Marilyn asked numerous questions about the Strait, conquered only by Tacoma's Bert Thomas. She wanted to know about the tides, the temperature, the efforts of others, and the details of Thomas' successful swim.

Regarding the temperature, she stated that when she became the youngest woman ever to cross the English Channel this summer, the cold "didn't bother me at all" during the swim.

"I found it very cold when I first started training," she said. "But I soon became acclimatized."

During her successful crossing from France to England in 14½ hours the temperature ranged from 52-58 degrees. When she swam Lake Ontario the temperature range was between 60 and 68 degrees.

A guest of honor at the Grey Cup festival here, Marilyn brought three days' homework with her. That homework, part of a long range study, includes Marilyn's plans to teach the handicapped to swim—an integral phase of her physiotherapy program.

A student at Loretto College, a girls' school in Toronto, 18-year old Marilyn is on her first trip west of North Bay, Ont.

Asked for a preference, whether she'd first like to try the English Channel again, from England to France, or the Juan de Fuca swim, Marilyn stated: "They say that once you swim the channel one way, you get channel fever. You have to try it the other way. But that Strait (Juan de Fuca)—yes, you can say I'd love to try it."

Lauder's Rink Stays In Vancouver 'Spiel'

Gerry Lauder's Victoria four-man team moved into the eighth of the Totem primary event today in the $11,500 Totem bonspiel at Vancouver by defeating Heath of Chilliwack, 8-5.

For the Lauder rink, unbeaten up to Wednesday, it was the eighth victory in nine games.

In the Vancouver secondary event, Wally Antrim of Parksville entered the 16s with 10-8 victory over Budd of Holden, Alta.

Project Abandoned

REGINA (CP)—The Leader-Post newspaper says that Fluor Corporation of California has abandoned its plan to build a $3,500,000 steel pipe plant at Regina.

DOCTOR SHOT TO DEATH IN TORONTO HOSPITAL

TORONTO (CP)—A lone gunman, believed a patient in the Ontario workmen's compensation hospital for the last two years, shot and killed Dr. Rex Hylton today.

Dr. Hylton had just completed treating another patient in a clinic, police said, when a man waiting in the group pulled a .30-.30 calibre rifle from under his topcoat, pointed it at the doctor's chest and fired at point-blank range. The doctor died on the spot.

The man was grabbed by other patients and hospital attendants.

'Paper Bag Bandit' Foiled by Girl, 17

Scared Cashier Runs Screaming
From Nanaimo Laundry Office

NANAIMO—A holdup man, closely resembling the "paper bag bandit" who recently carried out three successful Victoria holdups, was followed by a scared girl cashier here Tuesday night.

He tried to rob Nelson's Imperial Laundry, Comox Road, but fled empty-handed.

Mary Pichette, 17, of South Wellington, was on duty alone in the call office of the laundry at 4:55 p.m. when a man entered, drew a small gun, placed a paper bag on the counter, and ordered her to fill it with money.

Bewildered by his action, she did nothing. He repeated his demand, then reached across the counter and pulled her by the wrist toward the cash register. She still did not move.

"When he reached across the counter and began to strike at the cash register, she saw that with one quick turn she could be around a corner of the office and out of his reach," said Gordon Christopher, manager of the firm.

"She watched him closely, then the second he took his eyes away from her, she escaped, ran into the back of the building and screamed for the watchman."

By the time the watchman returned the man had gone empty-handed.

From $100 to $120 was in the cash register, Mr. Christopher said.

Miss Pichette described the holdup man as being five feet eight inches in height, weighing about 160 to 170 pounds, "fairly good looking," with dark hair, no distinguishing features, and about 25 years of age. He wore brown gloves.

The attempted holdup was not reported to police until Wednesday.

"After it was over, Miss Pichette was so upset she could think of nothing but letting me know what had happened," Mr. Christopher said. "I was driving south from Courtenay at the time, and couldn't be reached. It was Wednesday morning before we knew what had happened."

Similar tactics were employed during October and November in Victoria in three successful holdups at the Empress Hotel coffee shop, Monterey restaurant and Vancouver Island Coach Lines ticket office.

Grey Cup Girls Can Play—But Must Stay Away

TORONTO (CP)—The Toronto girls' pipe band may march in Vancouver's Grey Cup parade—but only on their own.

Walter Murdoch, Canadian head of the American Federation of Musicians (AFM) said today the girls may join in Saturday's fun but they must shun other Toronto visitors.

Mr. Murdoch said in a prepared statement: "Arrangements for the band's inclusion had apparently been made by the Toronto Junior Board of Trade totally ignoring the federation. We do not think the onus of the responsibility falls on the girls themselves, but on the Junior Board of Trade."

"As a consequence, the federation has agreed to permit its member musicians to appear in the parade with the girls' pipe band providing that the girls' pipe band physically dissociates itself from the Toronto Junior Board of Trade in the parade—that is to say does not march as part of the Toronto display."

Earlier it had been feared the band might be prevented from joining in the parade because it lacked union approval. Vancouver officials said the Toronto band had made no advance arrangements to take part in Grey Cup ceremonies.

State of Siege Nearer in Brazil

RIO DE JANEIRO (UP)—The house passed today and the Senate immediately began considering a law placing Brazil under a state of siege—or modified martial law—for the next 30 days.

Passage was considered certain. The move was taken at urging of the armed forces which feared elements loyal to all President Jose Cafe Filho would overthrow the legal government in an effort to prevent president-elect Juscelino Kubitschek from taking office Jan. 31.

Loggers 'Confesses' to Murdering Three Pals; Two Bodies Found

POWELL RIVER B.C. (CP)—RCMP officers said Wednesday night they were questioning a man who told them he killed three loggers who were reported missing a week ago from their camp on Desolation Sound, 30 miles north of here.

They would give no details other than saying that the man walked into headquarters with his story.

Bodies of two men have been found, police said, and a search is continuing for a third.

They said an autopsy on the body of Charles Haines, 34, of Portland, Ore., found Tuesday, showed he met death through drowning.

A second body, still unidentified, was recovered Wednesday after dragging operations near the Glen Lister Logging Company camp at Galley bay on Desolation Sound, where the men were employed. A boat was found beach nearby.

Reported missing along with Haines were Uno Nylund, 54, of Courtenay, B.C. and Fred Jen-

Taku Shelved For $50 Million Nass River Project

By TOM GOULD, Times Legislative Reporter

Frobisher Ltd. and Ventures Ltd. will concentrate studies on a $50,000,000 hydro-electric project on the Nass River in northwestern B.C., and apparently have shelved immediate plans for a $270,000,000 project at Taku Inlet.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett announced today the Ventures Group, with Northwest Power Industries, Ltd., as the operating company, will complete all surveys on Taku and on the Nass next year.

"From that they will proceed with designs, and then construction which we hope will start in 1957," said the premier.

He said work will be speeded up on the Nass River project, an entirely new plan presented by the Ventures Group. It calls for a 450,000 horsepower hydro dam on the Nass River, backed by storage dams on Bowser and Mezzadin Lakes.

PLANT ON ALICE ARM

A transmission line would carry power 32 miles to Alice Arm, where the firm plans an industrial and town site to process minerals by electric smelting processes.

Premier Bennett said he "hoped" there would be no delay on the giant Taku Inlet project, which called for a network of dams and power plants lacing the northwest corner of the province.

He said the project has suffered a delay through federal Bill 3, enacted at the last session of parliament, which makes all dams and hydro projects on international rivers subject to federal permit.

"I hope these differences will be resolved," said the Premier. He termed Bill 3 "ridiculous," and "foolish."

CONFIDENTIAL DISCUSSIONS

But he would not explain how the bill had caused a setback to the Taku Inlet project, which involved reversing the flow of the Yukon River in B.C. The Yukon flows across the Alaskan border.

"Any discussion on that was on a confidential basis," said the premier.

It is understood B.C. officials fear the U.S. will claim downstream benefits if the Yukon's flow is diverted. This would be done by having the Yukon brought under jurisdiction of the International Joint Commission.

Premier Bennett said the Taku project was "an open book" before the bill was passed.

The Alice Arm industrial site now chosen by Frobisher engineers for the Nass River project is 132 miles from an other smelter city, Kitimat, the site of the Aluminum Company of Canada's project.

EISENHOWER AIDE

Mr. Bennett's announcement followed a meeting Wednesday with Robert B. Anderson, president of the Frobisher-Ventures group and formerly a member of President Eisenhower's cabinet.

Mr. Anderson was named U.S. secretary of the navy in 1952, and later became deputy secretary of defence. He resigned the defence post early this year to succeed Thayer Lindsley as head of Frobisher-Ventures.

Premier Bennett said Mr. Anderson is "one of the outstanding men" in the U.S. and "one of Eisenhower's brightest men."

He said that with Mr. Anderson heading the mining chain, the Frobisher project will be greatly accelerated.

Frobisher has spent more than $2,000,000 in engineering survey in the north in the past two years, the premier said.

U.K. Sergeant Shot in Back By Cypriots

NICOSIA, Cyprus (Reuters)—A British army sergeant was shot down and killed by terrorists in a high-powered car as he walked home for lunch today.

The sergeant was cut down by tommy-gun bullets in his back only a couple of yards from the house where he lived with his wife, a few hundred yards south of one of this Cyprus capital's busiest main streets.

The dead man was the third British sergeant to be slain in the last six days and the fourth British soldier killed since Greek Cypriot terrorists last March began an underground war for independence and union with Greece.

His death, coupled with the wounding of another British soldier in a bomb attack on two patrol cars today, aroused a furious wave of indignation in British army camps throughout the British colony.

USSR Rejects French Plan on Disarmament

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Russia quickly rejected today a compromise disarmament proposal which France had advanced in the hope of breaking the 10-year deadlock on arms reductions.

Soviet delegate Arkady Sobolev told the UN disarmament commission the French proposal only confirmed the Soviet view that the western powers have retreated in recent months from their earlier positions.

"It is clear," Sobolev said, "that such an approach cannot offer positive results."

He also stressed previous Soviet assertions that President Eisenhower's plan for an exchange of military blueprints between the United States and Russia—together with mutual aerial inspection—was unacceptable to Russia unless it were a part of a general disarmament system.

The compromise plan suggested by French delegate Jules Moch was that the big powers agree on a preparatory period in which some control measures, including the Eisenhower plan, would be put into effect before the main stages of disarmament began.

Byrd Thinks Antarctic Ready for Habitation

5 GET GOLD BAND IN YEAR

Wanna Get Married, Girls?

Give the Trombone a Whirl

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP)—Miss Ivy Benson, who waves the stick for a leading British girl band, says the ladies who play the slide trombone somehow have more sex appeal than their musical sisters.

"I should know," Ivy explained. "Five girl trombonists have left my band this year to get married."

Miss Benson says this, and other factors, have driven her to the conclusion that there must be something about a trombone that drives a man crazy.

"It makes him forget his natural caution. It makes him propose."

This strange connection between the trombone and sex makes things tough for Miss Benson in her efforts to keep a sweet band together. She's had one for a long time, though—American and Canadian forces still remember her from the war years.

Playing the slide trombone is not an accomplishment the average young female considers a necessary part of her development which goes to show how wrong the average young female can be.

Miss Benson's trombonists earn anything from £12 to £25 a week—a lot of cash in Britain—but she can't keep them because of those would-be husbands.

"When I engaged Dorothy England," said Miss Benson, "I thought I was set for a while. Remember I'd lost four before her in the last 12 months."

"Dorothy had a beautiful tone. Her melodic figures were perfect. She was a sensible girl. She could play by ear or read music."

One day, said Miss Benson, she noticed her first trombonist studying what was on her music rack with unusual attention as she blew and pushed.

"But she wasn't studying music. She was reading a furniture catalogue. She'd driven a young man crazy with her trombone, he'd proposed and she was getting ready to fit up a flat. She's leaving us any day now."

Asked if the same thing didn't happen to other pretty instrumentalists, she replied: "Men don't fall over themselves for saxophonists. They don't swoon over viola players. It's trombones."

FLEMING

there are no signed agreements for some gravel contracts. They were gentlemen's agreements based in the interest of efficiency and economy, he said.

2. Council refused to conduct a full-scale investigation into the pit unless Mr. Fleming substantiated his charges in writing. It was claimed an inquiry would be too expensive unless some proof was given that gravel was missing.

3. Reeve Casey refused a request from Mr. Fleming to produce all documents pertaining to the gravel pit.

4. Reeve Casey produced a letter from the provincial highways department which said the government had taken 277,997 tons of gravel from the pit, and asked the municipality to invoice the department at seven cents a ton.

But Coun. Fleming today said this doesn't alter his chief complaint. He said there are still large quantities of gravel unaccounted for.

Department of municipal officials said today they will not conduct an investigation into charges of wrongdoing involving Saanich municipal gravel pit unless a request is received "from a responsible body."

"So far, there is nothing on our desks," said a department spokesman. "We have had a few phone calls, but that is nothing to act on."

At the start of the meeting, Reeve Casey said he considered the gravel charge a personal affront to himself and an attack upon the integrity of the council and members of the municipal staff.

He asked Coun. Fleming to substantiate in writing the charge that $100,000 worth of gravel was taken out of the pit. He also asked Coun. Fleming if the newspaper report on his statement was correct.

Coun. Fleming refused to substantiate any definite charge in writing until Reeve Casey produced gravel agreements and contour drawings of the pit.

NO MALICE
Coun. Fleming also said his statements to the press did not infer there was any dishonesty or that he bore any malice towards anyone.

He said his main purpose was to show there were no agreements and that no records were kept of gravel transactions with government and private parties. He added that the press report was substantially correct. Reeve Casey accused Coun. Fleming of not laying his charge through the proper procedure. He said the councillor should have reported the matter to the council instead of "running to the press."

Denying that he had "run to the press," Coun. Fleming said newspapers had come to him to confirm a report that large quantities of gravel had not been accounted for by the engineering department.

INCONSISTENT
He also charged the reeve with being inconsistent with regard to procedure for laying a complaint.

He said a few weeks ago members of the council "pounced" upon him, for making a charge at an open council meeting that short-weight gravel loads were delivered to the municipality and that Saanich was paying sales tax unnecessarily for delivery of materials. (Steps were taken to correct the sales tax complaint.)

"Now you say the opposite," he said. "I would like to know just what is the procedure."

Coun. Leslie Passmore, chairman of the sewage committee, and Coun. George Austin, chairman of the public works committee, supported Reeve Casey in his request that Coun. Fleming substantiate his charge in writing.

PERSONAL AFFRONT

Coun. S. W. Brock told the council he refused to consider Coun. Fleming's charge a personal affront to himself. He did not agree with the reeve, Coun.

Austin and Passmore that such was the case.

He warned council that if it persisted in discussing the matter on a personal basis the public would get the impression that it was more concerned in censoring Coun. Fleming than in discovering if there was any gravel missing in the pit.

He said the taxpayer was not interested in "procedure" but in the facts.

"They want to know if there are any agreements and what these agreements were," he stated. "They want to know if gravel was sold back to the municipality. They want to know where it went to and how it was used."

WANTS DOCUMENTS

Coun. Brock then asked Coun. Fleming if he had any information and documents which would assist him to substantiate his charge.

Coun. Fleming said he had information pertaining to the gravel pit which he was prepared to submit to an investigation committee. "I would be ready to serve on the committee," he said.

PROBE SUGGESTED

Coun. Brock followed up with a motion requesting the appointment of a three-man committee to investigate the matter.

He said the committee should consult the municipal legal advisor on the question of where councillors were liable if gravel was missing. He added that an independent surveyor might be hired also to survey the gravel pit.

But Reeve Casey cut Coun. Brock short. He said the motion should be made at the end of the meeting. The motion never got any further.

Coun. Fleming frequently clashed with Reeve Casey and Coun. Passmore over the $100,000 value placed on the missing gravel. Coun. Fleming had estimated 200,000 yards were unaccounted for. The going rate for pit-run gravel to a private purchaser is 50 cents a yard, not delivered.

Coun. Fleming said he never mentioned the $100,000 figure but he said a reputable Victoria firm had calculated the gravel was worth that amount.

"What I want is those documents and signed agreements regarding gravel 'deals,'" said Coun. Fleming. "Where are they?"

But the reeve said the main issue was whether Coun. Fleming could substantiate his charges.

COUNCIL WARNED

Coun. Fleming warned the council he would resign if nothing was done to protect members of a council from being liable for the gravel which was not accounted for by the engineering department.

He pointed out any taxpayer could lay a charge against the council and that the municipality would then have to account for every bit of gravel taken out of the pit.

He said he personally went up to the pit several times and measured the excavation with a surveyor's chain. His investigation showed there were no records for 171,500 yards of gravel taken out of the pit. This did not include gravel taken out by the provincial government some years ago.

INEFFICIENCY

"My main interest in this matter is to see that this municipality keeps records of all its transactions," he said. He charged the municipal administration with inefficiency.

Towards the close of the meeting, Reeve Casey produced a letter from N. M. McCallum, chief engineer of the public works department. The letter was dated November 23, the day of the meeting.

The letter said the government had taken 277,997 tons of gravel from the pit for use on the Patricia Bay highway. It asked Saanich to invoice the department of highways at seven cents a ton.

Mr. Dawson then submitted his written report which charged Coun. Fleming with making "utterly ridiculous

CALGARY MAYOR URGES CN-CPR AMALGAMATION

CALGARY (CP) — The royal commission on Canada's economic future heard a suggestion today that Canada's transcontinental railways—the CPR and CNR—be amalgamated.

Mayor Don Mackay, in a submission to the five-man commission, said Canada's freight rate structure has reached such a state of confusion "it is almost unfathomable."

What is needed he said, is a fundamental equalization freight rate pattern to bring consumer prices in western Canada to a level similar to those in eastern Canada.

If the two railways could not work out some equalization system, then it is possible to bring in a single railway system owned by the public serving the needs of Canada's development.

PITFALLS OF MARRIAGE

She Loves Him... She Loves Him Not

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Mrs. Clarissa Lewis, granted a divorce from Herman Lewis for the third time, held up her hand in court Wednesday and vowed she wouldn't marry him again.

Judge John L. Niblack insisted on the oath before granting the decree to the 31-year-old mother of four children.

Mrs. Lewis said her 40-year-old husband "never came home until after the taverns closed."

They were first divorced in 1943, remarried in 1946, divorced again in 1951, and married again a month after the second divorce.

ARLINGTON, Va. (AP) — An all-male jury acquitted a former woman Marine sergeant of murder Wednesday in the slaying of her Marine lieutenant husband after they argued over how she should cook pork chops for their dinner.

Mrs. Elizabeth Goricki, 42, had testified that Edward Kestick, 40, was shot accidentally while they scuffled after the pork chop argument May 22.

LOS ANGELES (UP) — A 39-year-old housewife, who said her home was broken up by "another woman," knelt and prayed at her husband's bedside early today before killing him with a single bullet through the temple.

Police booked Mrs. Nina Sorenson on suspicion of murder after she admitted firing a shot from a .25 calibre pistol through William C. Sorenson's head as he slept at home.

Mrs. Sorenson said "We had been having trouble for six or seven months because of another woman. After he went to bed last night I started thinking how happy we had been until all of this came along."

The woman said she took the pistol from a dresser drawer and after kneeling beside her husband and praying a long time, finally fired the shot through his temple.

"You had better come over," she telephoned police. "I've just killed my husband."

Ontario Expert Doubtful On Gas Pipeline

Fears Trans-Canada Can't Do Its Part

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario agreed to the federal government's scheme to finance the proposed all-Canadian natural gas pipeline after an adviser said it seemed to be the only way the line could be started by next year.

Premier Frost said Wednesday Ontario had agreed to the plan. At the same time, he released a report from an adviser who expressed doubt that Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Limited would be able to carry out its part of an agreement with Ottawa within the timetable.

The report was submitted by J. Grant Glasco of Clarkson, Gordon and Company, a firm of chartered accountants.

It urged Ontario to consider what action it should take in the event the company's plans should fail.

Under the scheme, the company is responsible for the cost of the line from Alberta to Ontario, an estimated $257,000,000.

The federal and Ontario governments would share in the cost of bringing the line the rest of the way from the Manitoba-Ontario border to Kapuskasing at a cost of $117,000,000.

Ontario would be responsible for $35,000,000 of the share paid by the governments. The company would rent this section of the line under an arrangement whereby it would buy it later.

Mr. Glasco's report recommended acceptance of the plan only because, he said, an earlier start could be made on the line than if it were necessary to negotiate with several governments.

Trans-Canada Pipe Lines has until May to show it can fulfill its obligations. To make the undertaking economic, the company has to sell large quantities of Alberta gas to the United States Midwest by way of Winnipeg and Emerson, Man. It has a sales contract with Tennessee Gas Transmission Company of the U.S., which is to become a Trans-Canada partner.

RECORD COLD IN EDMONTON

EDMONTON (CP)—Bitter cold still blanketed the Prairies today and weather office predictions offered little consolation.

The cold reached record proportions Wednesday in Edmonton, where the high was 12 degrees below zero. The weather office said the previous low maximum temperature on Nov. 2 occurred in 1921, when the mercury dropped to one below.

Adenauer Faces Showdown On Foreign Policy

BERLIN (Reuters)—Chancellor Adenauer returned to his office after seven weeks' illness today for a showdown with his chief political ally over a threatening West German foreign policy rift.

The 79-year-old leader, who was temporarily incapacitated by bronchial pneumonia, drove to the chancellery in his limousine. His return to government headquarters, which his illness forced him to abandon at a critical time in German history, was noticed only by a few bystanders.

The chancellor is facing a showdown with the second largest party in his government coalition, the Free Democrats, over a sharp foreign policy divergence in the wake of the Geneva Big Four foreign ministers' conference.

MUST DECIDE ON STAND
Free Democrat leaders were meeting today to discuss a sharp letter in which Adenauer asked them flatly Wednesday to decide whether they support his foreign policy, based on firm support for the western powers' stand at Geneva.

The feeling in parliamentary quarters is that the Free Democrats will have to recant on criticism of Adenauer's policy or leave the government coalition.

Queen Mother Now London U. Chancellor

LONDON (AP) — Queen Mother Elizabeth was installed today as chancellor of the University of London, the first woman in history to be accorded this scholastic dignity.

It is an honorary post invariably held by a person of national distinction. She succeeds her uncle, the Earl of Athol, former governor-general of Canada.

The installation was a picturesque ceremony witnessed by more than 3,000 persons at the royal festival hall. The Queen Mother was escorted into the hall by a group of gowned educational leaders while trumpets sounded. She wore the traditional chancellor's robes of black silk damask decorated with gold frogs. A liveried page carried her train.

Logan Mayhew Heads Liberals in Oak Bay

Oak Bay Liberal Association Wednesday named Logan Mayhew president for the coming year.

Annual meeting of the organization elected Arthur Burns, vice-president; Cecil O. Branson, secretary, and James Dickson, treasurer.

Directors named are: Mrs. Dorothy Claydon, Harold Johnson, Mrs. G. Worthington-Lake, Colin Langthorne, R. T. Murphy, Jack Sparks, Mrs. Muriel Johnson, Mrs. Harold Beckwith, J. V. Johnson, Jack Rutland and Mrs. G. Potter.

Archibald Gibbs, Liberal MLA for Oak Bay, spoke on the H. R. MacMillan brief presented before the Sloan royal commission on forestry recently.

Mr. Gibbs emphasized that in many points, the brief backed up the claims made by former MLA Gordon Gibson, the most bitter critic of the forest management licence system. Mr. Gibson resigned his Liberal seat in protest over the government's forest policies, and subsequently was defeated in a by-election by Social Credit Don Robinson.

Red China Threatens Formosan Invasion

BERLIN (CP)—Chen Yi, deputy Chinese premier, is quoted as saying Red China will invade Formosa if negotiations with the United States break down.

His statement was made in an interview today by Junge Welt, East Germany's official youth newspaper.

Chen Yi lists the following "active" preparations for invasion:

1. Railroads are "rapidly being built in the province of Fukien, on the mainland across from Formosa. Previously the province had no railroads.

2. "Numerous" airfields for jet planes are under construction on the coastline bordering Formosa.

3. "Numerous" ships are being built "in order to sail across to Formosa."

Ottawa Firms Big Butter Deal

Dutch Importer Buys Product 21c Below Price Paid for Surplus

OTTAWA (CP)—Between 7,000,000 and 8,000,000 pounds of government-held surplus butter have been sold to a Dutch importer for resale in East Germany, an agriculture department official said today.

"A sale has been completed and the butter now is being loaded aboard a boat in Montreal," he said. "The amount to be shipped will depend on the carrying capacity of the boat."

It is understood that while the contract calls for an immediate purchase of between 7,000,000 and 8,000,000 pounds there is an option to buy an additional 3,000,000 pounds.

The official said the contract price is in the neighborhood of 37 cents a pound, 21 cents less than the price paid for the surplus butter by the agricultural prices support board.

SIMILAR TO CZECH DEAL

The deal is similar to one under which 314,832 pounds of butter were sold to Czechoslovakia last summer. The price paid then was 37 cents a pound.

Butter Surplus Fictitious Says Gardiner

VERNON, B.C. (CP)—Agriculture Minister Gardiner said Wednesday Canada has "just enough butter to keep the distribution pipeline full and a reserve to prevent speculators running the price up to 85 cents a pound."

"When you hear people say we have a butter surplus, don't believe them," the federal minister said in an address to the annual B.C. Federation of Agriculture convention here.

Under the support price scheme, in which the federal government goes into the market and buys butter when it drops below 58 cents, he said farmers now are getting 78 cents of the consumers' dollar against 63 before the support program was adopted.

He said the trade explanation for increased prices is always that production costs of the farmer are higher in winter. But the trade bought up butter in summer when it was cheap and then raised the price in winter when it was scarce.

New Plan Would Cut 'High Cost of Dying'

TORONTO (CP)—A Toronto church group says it has a plan to "cut down the high cost of dying."

The recently formed Toronto Memorial Society hopes to popularize an unorthodox type of funeral service which will be both cheap and simple while still honoring the dead.

Rev. Donald Stout, 27, organized the group from among members of the congregation of South Peel Unitarian church where he is minister.

There would be no embalming, no public display of the body, no hearse of floral tributes, no sombre music and no graveside committal attended by members of the deceased's family.

The body would not be on view but would have been buried or cremated previously at a private ceremony.

Tired Jalopy Just Jumped

DALLAS (AP)—When Mrs. Edward Lee Cowart investigated a noise in their hotel bedroom Wednesday night she reported to her husband, "Honey, you've got a car in your bed."

"I've been expecting it," replied her husband, night clerk at the St. Paul Hotel.

A late-model car had missed a turn in a skyscraper parking building next to the hotel, leaped six feet through space and crashed through the wall of the third-floor bedroom. The Cowarts were visiting in another room across the hall at the time.

The parking station attendant, Fred Jackson, 22, said the car's brakes failed to hold and the vehicle leaped off the winding ramp.

It's the Public's Health

MAYOR HARRISON SAYS VICTORIA'S water supply does not need chlorination. Victoria health authorities have conducted tests which show it does. Either the mayor is wrong or the specialists who pass judgment on the drinking water not only of the city but the surrounding districts don't know their business.

There should be a strong inclination among the public to accept the word of people who have made a scientific study of the question. Their views on matters of health seem a great deal more impressive than that of a layman.

If Mayor Harrison persists in his efforts to eliminate the treatment of Greater Victoria water in the future—and futurism seems a characteristic of the chief magistrate—then he automatically assumes responsibility for the health of this community. There may be some people here prepared to trust their health to the mayor. There are more who think that trained medical personnel are better equipped for the job.

Mayor Harrison appears to have stepped beyond his sphere of competency in the course of a busy pre-election period of statements and activities.

He should not, and Victorians will not, overlook the fact that the mayor and aldermen of a Canadian city were sued successfully by the bereaved relatives of typhoid victims who died when chlorination was discontinued by that city.

Demands a Fundamental Remedy

IN ALL THE PUBLICITY THAT has followed the revelations of the report on the milk industry by Mr. Justice J. V. Cline, one fact should not be overlooked. It should not be obscured by exaggerations of the condition of many Fraser Valley dairy farms, "shocking" as some of them were. Nor should it be ignored in attempts to place the blame on previous regimes, nor in last-minute efforts to repair the shortcomings.

The fact is that the law provides for adequate inspection of dairy farms in order to safeguard the health of the public, and the law has not been properly carried out.

That situation apparently has existed for many years. It applied during the Coalition administration and was prolonged by the Social Credit Government until the Royal Commission report and the attendant publicity inspired attempts at reform.

It is no explanation to say that there was not sufficient personnel to carry out requirements of the Act. If it was not known at the ministerial level that the inspection system had become a "farce" then the sin is one of faulty internal organization. If it was known, then the guilt is even more serious.

It has been advanced in behalf of the inspection system that conditions could not have been too bad inasmuch as Vancouver has not suffered any cases of disease arising from contaminated milk. But it is obvious from the Commissioner's report that this fortunate fact is due entirely to the care exercised by distributors in pasteurizing the product of unsanitary farms.

This process prevents an epidemic, but it does not create high quality milk, it does not excuse the "deplorable and disgusting" conditions referred to by Mr. Justice Cline.

Agriculture Minister Kiernan has moved to augment the inspection service personnel with the help of a rush order course at the University of British Columbia. He could do no less, under the circumstances.

It is to be hoped that the forthcoming session of the Legislature will implement many of the recommendations of the Cline report with a view to safeguarding the public health as well as the consumer's purse. There can be no excuse for a continuation of far-from-acceptable conditions.

Falling Supply of Craftsmen

BY THE 1960s, WRITES CHRISTIAN Science Monitor correspondent Ed Townsend from New York, the United States will face a critical shortage of skilled craftsmen unless training programs are stepped up.

The question is under sober consideration by our neighbor's department of labor and presumably similar application should be made to the problem by Canadian authorities.

In the United States at least, according to the Townsend article, insufficient young men are entering apprenticeships and insufficient employers are undertaking programs to train or retrain their workmen.

Mr. Townsend argues that a ratio of one apprentice to five journeymen is required in the U.S. "just to replace workers likely to leave jobs before 1965."

Discussing American conditions, Mr. Townsend states that unions traditionally have opposed expanded apprenticeship programs lest the creation of a large high-skilled labor pool should lead to insecurity in the trade and jeopardize pay scales. At the same time, he says, many employers have failed to train even as many apprentices as the union rules would permit because training can be costly and cut into the skilled workers' productive time.

Beyond this, apprenticeship training is not being sought by as many American youths today as in earlier times. They have easier access to higher education, have quicker money-making opportunities in production industries and the time spent learning a craft appears more discouraging to them.

To a degree similar conditions might be revealed by Canadian studies of the subject. Conceivably in craftsmanship, as in engineering and forestry professions, this country's development calls for more skilled young men.

Candidates for the required training do, of course, face the hazards of improved technology drastically altering the work for which they spend years in apprenticeships. But at least in the United States and probably in Canada, there will be insufficient craftsmen within the next decade.

It is a matter which concerns not only labor departments and industry, but the society in which we live.

Safe Driving Day

THE MEASURE OF THE NEED for the proposed Safe Driving Day, to be held Dec. 1, is to be seen in the hope that North America may thus be helped to remain free of fatal accidents, not for a week or a month, but for a mere 24 hours.

A similar observance, held throughout the United States last year, cut down traffic accidents to an appreciable extent, as drivers took extra care on the roads. But even then, there were 81 deaths in car crashes on that day.

The "day" this year has been endorsed by Prime Minister St. Laurent and President Eisenhower, as well as provincial and local authorities.

It is to be hoped that the significance of the event will not be lost on local drivers. And the real significance would seem to lie in the fact that what is important is not to try to remain accident-free for only 24 hours and then resume bad habits, but to make special carefulness habitual.

Only by such an approach can the day be made more than an interesting statistical study. The real goal is not to save lives once a year, but all year.

Ride for a Fellow-Traveler?

THE OTHER DAY IN WASHINGTON, D.C., the Press Club gave a farewell dinner to seven visiting Soviet newsmen.

In the course of the function hosts and guests matched wits and the affair drew to a close with a poker-faced offer of a prize by the visiting Russians. They would, they said, give a six-weeks' all-expenses-paid tour of Russia to the United States journalist who, in their judgment, contributes most to Soviet-American understanding.

Under vastly different circumstances from those now prevailing, the gesture would have been generous.

Today, as one U.S. newspaperman remarks, it constitutes the most "unsought prize" in American journalism.

The Washington Press Club seems to think a winner would feel something like the southern gentleman who was ridden out of town on a rail—if it hadn't been for the honor of the thing, he'd just as soon have walked.

Every Play Ends the Same Way

LOOSE ENDS

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

Life Under a Monolith

TWO eminent Russian journalists, Mr. Boris Kampov-Polevoy and Mr. Valentin Berezkhov, turned up in Washington, D.C., the other day and courageously submitted to ordeal by stenography.

Before the inquisitive editors of the United States News and World Report these courageous foreigners answered questions for some hours or at any rate, filled 16 pages of the magazine.

Their answers are well worth reading but are too long to be quoted here. In effect, the Russians announced that the press of their country was absolutely free. The government never interferes with it. No secret directives are given to editors from the Kremlin. They can and do criticize the government. They make up their own minds on everything.

HOW come it, then, that the Russian press always agrees unanimously on all important points of policy and has never found it necessary to suggest the election of a new government or any change in the basis of Russian society?

The visiting editors answered this question without batting an eye. They were asked specifically: "Is it permissible in the Soviet Union to advocate a system other than the Socialist system—to advocate a return to capitalism, for example?" To which Mr. Berezkhov replied:

"This question has to do with the classes which exist in a particular country. As you probably know, there are no antagonistic classes in the Soviet Union, such as exist in capitalist countries, where there is a class of proletarians and a class of capitalists. . . . In the Soviet Union we have no antagonistic classes. Our society is monolithic and has, of course, its own point of view, which it propagandizes. The very fact of the absence of an antagonistic class liquidates any basis for any other kind of movement because such movements cannot arise out of thin air. They must have a supporting base. In our country no such base exists."

THE visitors were then asked if any individual writer, a novelist, for example, could legally advocate the overthrow of communism. Mr. Polevoy said no law prevented a writer from saying exactly what he pleased, "but I cannot picture any of our authors writing such a work." Mr. Berezkhov added that no "straight-thinking person" would ever attack the Russian system since that would be "just a plain lie." Mr. Berezkhov believed that in all Russia such a liar would not be found. "That is why a truth of this nature strikes me as just plain inconceivable."

IN other words, Russian society is so perfect that no one would dream of questioning it. Unanimity has been achieved not, of course, by force but by intelligence. The state need not inflict its views on the public because the public all thinks alike. The state, as Mr. Berezkhov says, is a monolith and so, one might add, is an ant hill.

Mr. Berezkhov, the product of a monolith, is proud of it, which is his right. But as the product of a monolith he cannot be expected to understand, any other system and he has fully demonstrated his misunderstanding of the Western system (if it can be called a system.)

HE tells us that Russia is fortunate beyond any other state because it contains no antagonisms and hence no arguments on essentials, because all Russians think alike on essentials; and

ANTI-FLUORINE DATA

Complimentary bouquets are so rare these days that the tribute paid me (and through me, the Fluoridation Investigational Society) in your Nov. 14th issue by Mr. Harry Langley, is deserving of fitting acknowledgment.

This bouquet is all the more acceptable as it is entirely unexpected, coming as it does from one who is not a member of the F.I. Society. The aims of this group are to provide authentic information to the general public, who are at all times entitled to know both sides of any question which concerns them as intimately as does fluoridation of public water supplies.

The Society has up-to-date facts available, and members are fully aware of information such as contained in the Editor's note which followed your correspondent's letter. They are also aware that, in computing 1,115 communities as being fluoridated, the American Dental Association attains such totals by adding in outlying hamlets, villages etc. For example, Vancouver would be computed as approximately 12 districts, and Victoria four—i.e. Victoria City, Esquimalt, Oak Bay, and Saanich, when actually one water supply only is involved.

The situation in Chicago is, according to recent advice, very much open to doubt, owing to extremely powerful opposition by Chicagoans and, in support of Mr. Langley's remarks on European countries, this Society's direct scientific contacts there fully confirm that they are definitely opposed to fluoridation at this stage of the experiment.

TEACH THEM YOUNG

I believe there is some controversy on just now re "Should French be taught in schools?" I presume elementary schools.

May I be permitted to say a few words on this subject? I say—of course most undoubtedly—Yes—colloquial French—at the very earliest age along with "A B C" and "twice one are two"—never mind French grammar and exercises—these will come later.

It is amazing to me what a very small percentage do speak French—and in a bilingual country at that. In South Africa every child is bilingual and speaks both English and Afrikaans (it was Dutch) with equal fluency. Both are taught in every school.

Children pick up a language quicker than grownups. When my daughter was 6 years old I gave her some simple illustrated story books—in French—not a word of English—these are easily obtained and I think it is a good idea. All teachers in your schools should be able to speak fluent French—it should be born in mind that this is a bilingual country.

Personally I consider that both French and Spanish are very easy languages to pick up and there should be no difficulty.

ENLARGED COMMONWEALTH?

Conservative MP Sir Robert Boothby's (London) suggestion that six European nations should join the British Commonwealth (Nov. 18) is rather interesting and might be fruitful, if it could be done.

But . . . let us look for a moment at the point of view of those nations.

Being born a Hollander, let us see what Holland would want before she could do this. Where in Holland state and church are absolutely separate, the state, representing the people in general, is naturally the authority. No marriages, for instance, are performed by a so-called reverend. In Holland those preachers have at least the common sense to realize that there is nothing reverend about them; none of all the unwarranted privileges the church has usurped in England (and Canada!); and looking at the spectacle we have witnessed the last month or so, where the Archbishop of Canterbury has practically forced Princess Margaret in giving up the man she loves. The first requisite for Holland would have to be that the church be stripped of all those usurped privileges and the state be made supreme.

In the second place, why does Sir Robert think that those countries would be willing to recognize the present British Royal House? All those six countries have their own Royal Houses, and again in the case of Holland, its House goes back for centuries and the members of that House are certainly closer to the people than in England. So, the only solution in this respect would be to make a larger commonwealth a republic.

Lesser differences could probably be solved, compromised, but those two conditions would have to be met. Would England be willing to do this for the common good? I wonder if the majority is far enough advanced in its thinking.

TRYING TO FIX A FAIR PRICE

Milk Formulas Are Not Only for Babies

By B. A. TOBIN

ONE of the big problems of the milk industry, not only in British Columbia but in many other areas, is how to decide on a fair return for the man who keeps the cows.

It has been found that since it is such a necessary and healthful food it is in the public interest to encourage a year-round supply of fresh, clean milk. This is commonly done through governmental establishment of a minimum price for the producer.

The difficulty of setting this minimum price is increased by the fact that production costs vary greatly from one farm to another, and by the further fact that few farmers have an accurate idea of their costs.

Having set a price—even by "intelligent guesswork," as Mr. Justice J. V. Cline calls it in his report on the milk industry—authorities are then faced with the question of whether or not to proceed with regulation. Is it necessary to set production quotas, specify exclusive market areas, extend control to retail prices?

One control usually leads to another and a system of regulation is built up which may seriously hamper the industry.

HIGH OR LOW

Too high a producer price may, as the Commissioner points out, encourage inefficient producers to enter the market. And this will merely make it more difficult to effect price reductions for the sake of the consumer. Too low a price, on the other hand, will discourage output and retard development of the industry. As Mr. Justice Cline puts it: "It cannot be over-emphasized that an artificially high price does not benefit the consistently good producer who is in the business to stay. It encourages new farmers to come into production when there is already twice as much milk as is required to supply the fluid market, and it stimulates production from the poor producer."

As butter sales have been affected by the availability of margarine, so fluid milk consumption is threatened by the increased use of cheaper milk substitutes such as milk powder and evaporated milk. Experience shows that each increase in fluid milk prices greatly stimulates the use of powdered milk. The price of the latter in British Columbia is subject to international market conditions and cannot be raised without inviting outside competition.

Another problem which Mr. Justice Cline has sought to solve is the B.C. situation whereby milk sold for manufacturing purposes brings the farmer less than half the income he receives for exactly the same quality of milk which goes into the fluid milk market. This double-price anomaly has led to many difficulties within the industry and intensified the bogey of "surplus" production.

LOOKS ASKANCE

Mr. Justice Cline looks askance at the present method of fixing producer prices in British Columbia. They are set by the Milk Board, but changed only when a petition results in public hearings at which the arguments of producers, distributors and consumers are set against each other and some sort of compromise reached.

Under such a system, he says, the price set may not be the most suitable. In addition, change is unlikely to occur until the situation has reached a critical point where some interested party is moved to organize a protest.

The Commissioner recommends that the system of pricing by formula should be used. It is now employed in 49 markets in the United States with apparent success.

Under this method prices are set through a calculation of producers' costs, consumers' purchasing power and the purchasing power of money. In actual use these are represented by the farmers' feed and labor costs, the average of weekly wages in urban industry, and the index of wholesale prices for goods in common use. For B.C., the Commissioner would add a factor based on supply and demand.

GREAT IMPROVEMENT

As Mr. Justice Cline points out, this does not constitute a perfect method of fixing producer prices, but it is a great improvement on that now in use, and it has the further advantage of adjusting frequently to meet changing conditions before a critical point arrives. He urges that some such system be made a part of legislation to improve conditions in the milk industry. The governing principle, he stresses, is that "the object of setting the producer price is to maintain in the public interest a continuously adequate but not excessive supply of milk for the fluid market."

It is to be expected that opposition will be raised to a change in the price-fixing mechanism. Along with the formula system would go a rearrangement of quotas. In the case of mainland independent producers, for instance, this would result in a larger share of the fluid milk market going to co-operative farmers, since these now enjoy less in proportion to the total market than their output warrants.

The price control will depend a great deal on a system of regulating sales which is called "equalization." This forms an important part of the Commissioner's recommendations and will be considered tomorrow.

Revolt

THIS is a getting-sick-of-column. For I am getting mighty sick of being called to the phone only to find that a stranger is trying to sell me something, or making use of me for his own financial gain.

Maybe I'm unlucky, but it seems to me that whenever I settle down to a task that requires serious concentration, I'm phoned by someone with an axe to grind. (I speak as a housewife, not as a columnist-writer.)

That's not what I pay the B.C. Telephone Company for.

If my husband wants to buy a better truck, he can go down town to see about it. He doesn't need to be called away from the supper table.

If we want more medical insurance than we already carry, we're well able to make our own choice. We don't want to be high-pressure, thank you very much.

As for magazines! I've had the woman who asked whether we took a certain magazine, and then, when I said we did, took up my time telling me about the articles it had carried in the last six months. (And, I may say, I had a much better grip of them than she had!)

I've had the woman who, in honeyed voice, said, "You are one of the very, very lucky housewives of Victoria who have been selected to try our outstanding offer on such-and-such magazine."

Outstanding offer, my foot! It was just a slight cut in rates, probably because the circulation was dropping off a bit.

As for this business of the very, very lucky housewives, etc., that approach is strictly for the simple-minded. I'm simple, alright. But not THAT simple.

Ruth

Television is nother favorite. I've had that one, too.

"Mrs. X," a strange voice asked the other day, "do you have television?"

My instinctive reaction to that kind of thing is to snap back, "What the heck is that to you?" But I didn't. I feebly bleated, "No," and then politely asked the reason why.

"This is the Blankety-Blank Television Service," said the voice getting very brisk and business-like. "We ask because we'd like the privilege of servicing your set."

"You mean it's a cheap way of beating up business," I said, the old manners slipping just a little.

"It's a form of advertising," she replied, getting very lofty.

Well, it's a cheap-skate form of advertising that I dislike very much. It's an invasion of the privacy of the home. It's high-pressure salesmanship carried to an extreme.

Twenty years ago business firms didn't do this sort of thing. The reputable ones still don't.

What about the question of licences, I'd like to know. For surely peddling over the phone is just the same as peddling at the door?

Once firmly established, where does this habit stop? Next thing we know, the doctors will do it! "Mrs. X, are you thinking of having an operation soon?" Or we'll get, "This is the Peaceful Funeral Home. Can we interest you in a bargain offer?" Or "This is Dr. Z's office calling. When did your children have their teeth checked last?"

No, it's a rotten habit.

WHAT would people say if I began ringing names at random and saying, "Do you read Ruth Enke in The Victoria Daily Times?"

See what I mean? Pretty disgusting, isn't it?

LONDON LETTER

By WALLACE REYBURN

A Suitcase Full of Money

LONDON—This might be termed The Great Suitcase Mystery.

I have an acquaintance by the name of Eric. What he does for a living nobody quite knows. He is hard-bitten character with a broad Cockney accent but he is always well dressed and always seems to have plenty of ready cash. The feeling is that he lives by his wits, which is probably the nicest way of putting it.

He knows all the seedy types of the rough-tough pubs of the Paddington area and is on friendly terms with the layabouts of the none-too-respectable drinking clubs around town. From time to time he takes me on excursions to show me some of the seamier side of London and on these occasions I meet gentlemen just out of the clink or due to go there shortly and others living close to the law.

It was through Eric that I met a staff sergeant in the U.S. forces stationed in this country. I have bumped into him several times and always I have noticed two things about him. First, he's a big spender, even more so than his liberal American sergeant's pay and allowances would warrant. And secondly, he always has a suitcase with him.

When asked "Why the suitcase?" he always says that he is on his way to catch a train. But although he talks much of catching trains, I have never seen him make an active move in the direction of a railway station.

He and that suitcase are inseparable. In a pub it is always by his side. At a party it is always in the room with him, never left in the hall with his coat, which is the customary thing to do with a suitcase.

"Does he sleep with that confounded suitcase?" I asked Eric one night.

"Yes!" he said. And it was from him that I got the explanation of the suitcase.

With U.S. troops stationed in Britain it is not unknown for them to sell to local citizens American cigarettes and tobacco, liquor and other things they can get very cheaply at the shops set up within their various stations and headquarters.

Many U.S. servicemen do it in a small way. This sergeant was doing it in a big way. That suitcase contains his profit to date—more than $3,400 in one-pound and five-pound notes.

But the irony of it is that this money doesn't do him any good.

He can't bank it in an English bank because as soon as he tried to open an account there would be question to his unit as to where he got the money. He can't exchange it into dollars because a transaction like that would have to have Bank of England permission—more embarrassing questions.

He can't take it with him on his return to the U.S. because it wouldn't sound too good to say to a customs official: "What's in that suitcase? Oh, only a few souvenirs I picked up in little 'ol England." He has twice refused transfer back to the U.S. in view of this. And he goes in constant dread of somebody stealing the money, hence his having it within sight all the time. He looks worried. Who wouldn't be, with a nice nest-egg like that and no way to hatch it.

BASEMENT OIL STRIKE WAS JUST A PLAIN MESS

ROYAL OAK, Mich. (UP)—Harry Lamborn's joy over the "gusher" he found in his basement turned to sorrow when an oil company crew arrived to deodorize the basement.

The oil company employees explained that an over-eager delivery man had overfilled Lamborn's oil tank earlier in the day and they were sent to clean up the mess left by more than 100 gallons of oil which overflowed onto the tiled floor in the basement.

Second Cobalt Bomb For Cancer Clinic

VANCOUVER (BUP)—The increasing number of cancer victims requiring such therapy, officials said.

The incoming president of the foundation is J. A. Lamprey. Vice-presidents are W. H. Mowat and R. M. Cooper with W. H. Malkin honorary president, and Lieutenant-Governor Frank M. Ross, patron.

Announcement of the proposed purchase was made by Frank H. Brown, chairman of the foundation's building committee, at the annual meeting which followed the opening of the new board home for cancer patients.

Mrs. Frank M. Ross, wife of the lieutenant-governor, officially opened the $270,000 building Wednesday. The home was built from proceeds of "conquer cancer drives" organized jointly by the foundation and the B.C. division of the Canadian Cancer Society.

The purchase of the "bomb" was made necessary by the increasing number of cancer victims requiring such therapy, officials said.

Scintillating Vitality Shown By Promising Young Ballerina

By AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON

During the second performance of the Royal Winnipeg Ballet, Wednesday night, one member of the company particularly loomed as a ballerina of whom much may be heard in the future.

In dancing the classic Don Quixote pas de deux, Marina Katonits displayed not only an astonishing degree of delicacy and control, but that essential "brio," that scintillating vitality that is an important part of the secret of the great ballerina assoluta.

A trifle on the plump side, perhaps, the young dancer nevertheless has a talent that is quite rare and, at this early stage in her career, a somewhat spectacular endurance as the demands of "Don Quixote" and the role of the Devil's Mistress showed.

Her partner, Paddy McIntyre, was also revealed as a technically efficient and arresting dancer. He mimed expressively and as the devil in the evening's main production, was like and insinuating if not particularly menacing.

GREAT BEAUTY

Gweneth Lloyd's choreography to music of Bach, titled "Parable," had an effective contrapuntal design and in presentation was satisfying, having great beauty of line in its general composition. With few exceptions the dancers displayed a flowing evenness of style and firm discipline.

Upon second viewing, "The Devil in the Village" struck this reviewer vivid mimes on the part of the even more favorably than on the corp-de-ballet in the gossipping and first occasion. Particularly the matchmaking scenes.

B.C. Potato Growers Renew Tariff Demand

VERNON (CP)—B.C. Federation of Agriculture in convention here renewed its demand for a year-round import duty of $7.50 a ton on United States table and seed potatoes.

The resolution passed after provincial agriculture minister Kenneth Kiernan told of his visit to the Columbia basin reclamation project in Washington state, and said B.C. growers can't compete with the subsidies which the neighboring growers enjoy. He promised to press for the growers' protection demand.

The minister said irrigation power on the big Washington project, federally sponsored, was only half a mill per kilowatt hour against the "most economical hydro project in B.C." the John Hart dam, at three.

He said the Columbia basin growers "dumped" apricots and potatoes at anything they could get, and that "we cannot develop a stable B.C. agriculture in the face of this unfair competition."

The convention also endorsed a B.C. Fruit Growers' Association resolution which said present tariff protection on soft fruits is of "relatively little value" and asked protection during the period when B.C. growers are picking and marketing their product.

Hitler's Private Life

Montgomery's victories over Afrika Korps toppled Rommel from Hitler's favor, brought "win or die" ultimatum

By HEINZ LINGE, Hitler's Personal Valet

(World Copyright, 1955)

BERLIN—In the fall of 1942 as the African campaign advanced and the Afrika Korps had not succeeded in capturing Egypt, Adolf Hitler began to become doubtful about Field Marshal Rommel's ability. He was so anxious to have control of everything himself that he worried because he could not be on the spot in North Africa. Then he began to get ideas that maybe Rommel was not fighting as hard as he should.

About this time, the crisis of Stalingrad came and for a day or two he thought only of Russia. Rommel meanwhile had gone into a hospital and one day Hitler telephoned him.

I was present when Hitler spoke to him and gave emphatic orders that the German army must not retreat.

"Either you win or die there," he told Rommel. He was very angry and shouted into the telephone, banging his desk to emphasize each point.

By the end of 1942, the situation had changed.

Rommel was summoned to Rastenburg. No longer was he the greatest of Hitler's generals.

The Fuehrer loosed a stream of invective at Rommel as he stood at attention in front of him.

Pacing up and down before him, Hitler shouted:

"Defeatist! Coward! Liar!" at the idol of the Afrika Korps. Again and again he screamed that Rommel was a defeatist, a traitor to Germany.

"You have turned the Afrika Korps into cowards and defeatists, too," he said.

Rommel had never before seen Hitler in this mood. He was quite obviously surprised and shocked. Nevertheless, he stood stiffly at attention while the attack went on for more than an hour.

"LIAR . . . COWARD"

In view of his past intimacy with Hitler, when he had always been free to express his opinion, Rommel attempted once or twice to intervene during the attack. More than once he said supply shortages were the reason for his lack of success.

"You are a liar," screamed Hitler. "Once you told your troops, 'If you want fuel and oil go and get them from the enemy.' Why don't you do that now? You coward!"

"If you have enough fuel and oil to retreat," he shouted, "why don't you use that fuel and oil to go forward instead of back?"

I looked at Rommel. His eyes remained hard and stern. I felt he was in complete command of himself, but amazed and shocked.

Then came an indirect threat shouted at Rommel.

"If my generals fail me in Russia, if they retreat, I have them court-martialled and shot."

Rommel tried several times more to placate the Fuehrer, but it was no use, and eventually he was dismissed.

REALIZED MISTAKE

It was then that Hitler fully realized the mistake he had made in building up Rommel. He realized that to the Afrika Korps and the German people, Rommel had become a "German god" and that at this juncture of the war, with an apparent stalemate in Russia and setbacks in North Africa, he dare not topple him from his pedestal.

Hitler calmed down a little bit after Rommel left. And then, as was his habit when greatly disturbed, he asked me to fetch his dog Blondi. He played with it for some time to drive his worries from his mind.

In the days that followed, Hitler began to talk of the possibility of controlling the Mediterranean from Italy to the coast of France. For hours he studied the maps as messages came in telling him of the steady retreat of the Afrika Korps.

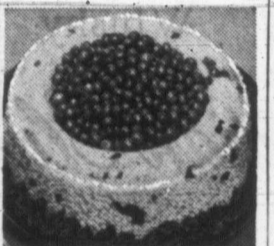

Nor was the news from Russia good. It was at this time that Hitler in one of his tempers, said:

"I am getting bad news every hour of the day. I get continuous stories of bad luck and misfortune. I think I will break down if I hear of a success."

He was nervous and would continuously walk up and down, never resting or sitting still for long.

WAR MAPS HIDDEN

At that time a difference in the treatment of the staff around headquarters became apparent. In the early days, maps were freely displayed and daily bulletins were read out telling of Germany's victories in Poland, France, Russia and would have kept him away. But, of course, England is only fighting in Africa, whereas we are fighting in Russia, Greece, Albania and maintaining the West Wall in France, Belgium and Holland, in Norway and Denmark."

When a story reached us in Russia that an attempt had been made to capture Rommel,

Hitler said, "Of course, the English would like to take my best general. But, Linge, I would offer them many senior British officers who are prisoners of war to get him back to my side."

$1 Million Budget Predicted For New Canadian Labor Body

The million-member Canadian Labor Congress to be formed next year will need an annual budget of just over $1,000,000, R. K. Gervin, Vancouver, a vice-president of Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, said here Wednesday night.

Mr. Gervin explained proposed structure of the new congress, to be formed by merger of the TLC and Canadian Congress of Labor, to about 100 unionists and wives at the closing dinner of Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council 'three-day school on unionism.

At present, he explained, combined operating costs of the TLC and CCL amount to about $902,000, based on an estimate covering 1955.

Contributing to the funds on a per capita basis, through local and provincial councils, will be 578,000 TLC members charged internationally and an additional 22,000 under federal charter. For the CCL there will be 382,000 members charged internationally and 18,000 with federal charters.

TWICE AS MUCH

But in spite of the difference in size, the CCL has been spending nearly twice as much annually as the TLC over the past two or three years, Mr. Gervin said.

Amalgamation will mean not only pooling of funds and resources, but administration and staffs.

It will result in a closer coordination between the three levels of organization maintained by the labor movement in Canada—local, provincial and national.

"Certainly we'll never have the waste of time and money as in the past," the unionist said.

He said the draft constitution of the body should be ready for submission to the two organizations in a week or 10 days. It will then need only to be ratified next April 23 at the first CLC convention.

Mr. Gervin said the idea of merger is to gain eventual unification of all sections of bona fide organized labor in Canada.

The new unit will be one completely autonomous labor organization formed to promote the best interests of unions in economic, social and legislative fields.

CHANGE NAMES

In answer to a question, Mr. Gervin told the meeting federally-chartered unions which do not wish to join the new congress will not be forced to do so, but they will have to take proper steps to amend their titles.

At the top of the structure will be a body called the executive council, comprised of three executive officers and 13 vice-presidents each representing about 70,000 members in B.C., the prairie provinces, Ontario, Quebec and the Maritimes.

This council will meet at least three times a year, and will be responsible to the biennial congress convention.

The executive officers will be a president, executive vice-president and secretary-treasurer. Initially, the president and vice-president will be elected from TLC unions, and the secretary-treasurer will be elected from CCL unions, but thereafter they will be named at the congress convention.

Meeting in alternate years to the merged congress conventions will be a third body called the general board, consisting of the executive council and a designated representative of each international and national union, provincial organization and organizing committee.

PUBLIC RELATIONS

Among the responsibilities of the executive vice-president will be departments for international relations and political

Find Rembrandt Art

MAASTRICHT, Holland (Reuters)—A Dutch art dealer claimed Wednesday at nearby Valkenburg to have discovered an unknown painting by Rembrandt called the "Musicians." Dealer C. J. Habets said this could be a picture mentioned in several biographies of Rembrandt but which had never been found. Only the first letter "R" of a signature is visible and the number "35" which, according to Habets, may mean the year 1635, when Rembrandt was 29.

education, together with a full-time director of public relations, the first such post in Canadian labor history.

Mr. Gervin predicted there will be full-time delegates to the United Nations International Labor Organization and the International Confederation of Free Trade Unions.

In leading up to the terms of merger, which were five years in preparation, Mr. Gervin traced the history of the Canadian labor movement.

"It has come to the point," he said, "where if we are going to do the best for the people we represent, we must join together into one organization."

Edwin Haw, secretary of Victoria Labor Council (CCL), a guest at the banquet meeting, said:

"It wasn't good having two organizations. We didn't seem to have enough strength to combat the anti-labor legislation instigated by employers. The only way was for both of us to come into this 'one house of labor.'"

ISLAND TOWN SETS CURFEW

LAKE COWICHAN—A curfew will be imposed on young people here, it was announced today. A siren installed some time ago will sound at 10 each night to warn young people to be off the streets. It will sound at 11 p.m. in the summer months. Students will be notified of the curfew by J. F. D. Sdywell, high school principal.

Less Than Half West Germans Blame Russ

WEISBADEN, Germany (UP)—Fewer than half of the West Germans place the blame on the Soviets for the failure of the Geneva conference, a public opinion survey indicated today.

A poll of 1,000 Germans showed that 49 per cent blamed the Russians, 23 per cent blamed all of the Big Four powers and five per cent fixed the guilt on the western powers.

Only 30 per cent of those questioned under 30 years of age thought the Russians were responsible for the conference failure. Quents were gold coins which came into currency in Italy about 1100 AD.

B.C. Farmers Battle Loss of Water Rights

VERNON (CP)—The farmer's losing fight with industry over water rights, provided a major issue at the annual convention of B.C. Federation of Agriculture here Tuesday.

A resolution from Cowichan Agricultural Society urged the provincial government to "first" safeguard the interests of agriculture when granting water rights to other industries.

J. H. Mutter, Duncan, said the Harmac pulp mill had reduced the water table around Nanaimo "without regard to the farmer."

Now, he told the meeting, a pulp mill is building on Duncan Bay "and we of Cowichan want some protection on the Cowichan River."

Water for the mill has again been arranged without regard to the farmer, Mr. Mutter said.

Speakers said that the government took over water rights in the district and then gave them back with reservations.

J. Shaneman, Duncan, reported that he had recently obtained water rights on a creek tributary to the Cowichan River but that rights were granted "subject to need of the pulp mill."

The resolution was adopted. Delegates also approved a resolution proposing a special "rat week," which called for a province-wide poisoning program for rodents.

Pender Group Asks Further Ferry Subsidy

PENDER ISLAND—Farmers' Institute here has prepared a 13-point brief for presentation to Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi that will ask reconsideration of the proposed withdrawal of a subsidy to the ferry Cy Peck.

The ferry plies between Swartz bay and Fulford harbor, on Salt Spring island, and makes regular trips to Pender island. Existing subsidy under which the ferry operates will expire Nov. 30.

George Pearson, institute secretary, said the brief states that the present subsidy is nominal, and that removal of the Fulford Pender service would leave Pender with Mv. Lady Rose as the only means of access from the island.

The Lady Rose would take 14½ months to carry the same number of cars the Cy Peck can carry in four months, he said.

Drama Club Play Challenges Skill Of Property Crew

LAKE COWICHAN—Don Cameron, stage manager of Lake Cowichan Drama Club, heads a crew of property men that is endeavoring to create the Syrian highlands for the club's forthcoming play, to be staged Dec. 2 and 3.

"The Little Dry Thorn," with one scene in a courtyard in the ancient city of Ur, and another in a tent on a scorching desert, to date has taxed the ingenuity of the stage crew to the limit.

One problem is the white, penetrating light of the desert country. A tent must be raised without interfering with the lighting, and wine carafes, carved chests, draperies and other obscure objects must be found to provide an authentic setting for the play.

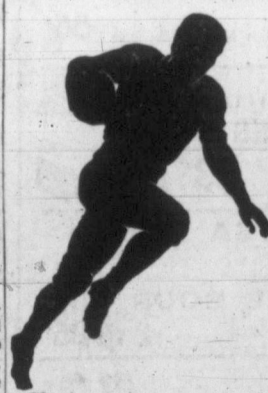

School Addition Tender Accepted

LANGFORD—H. E. Fowler & Sons submitted the low tender of $46,912 for construction of an addition to Langford Elementary School, according to Sooke School Board.

The board accepted the tender, lowest of six that ranged as high as $50,645, subject to education department approval. The project will include three classrooms and an administration office.

98% of Barns Clean Says Master Farmer

Chilliwack Leader Hits 'Filthy Barn' Publicity Following Clyne Report

CHILLIWACK, B.C. (CP)—Newspapers which created "a very wrong impression" about the cleanliness of Fraser Valley dairy barns were criticized here Wednesday night by the executive of the Chilliwack Board of Trade.

Harold W. German, past-president of the board and past-president of the Chilliwack Agriculture Association, in a statement to the executive said, "I think we should take very strong exception to recent press reports in Vancouver newspapers about milk cleanliness. The reports damned the industry by referring to dirty barns."

"Actually, less than two per cent of all the shipments in the Fraser Valley can enter into the dirty-barn category."

A charge that some barns in the Fraser Valley were not up to cleanliness standards was made last week in the report of Mr. Justice J. V. Clyne, who conducted a royal commission investigation into the industry.

The report was released in Abbotsford. "Ninety-eight per cent of the barns are really clean and turn out what is probably Canada's best milk product," Mr. German said.

UNFAIR
"In my opinion, it is completely unfair to smear the 98 per cent because of the two per cent who might be dirtier than necessary. "I think everybody should know that dirty milk or impure milk of any kind never gets to the fluid market. Purity of milk is rigidly controlled."

The agriculture committee of the Chilliwack board of trade, following Mr. German's address, voted to present a resolution to the associated boards of trade of the lower mainland and Fraser valley, asking that newspapers correct "the wrong impression they created" following release of the Clyne report.

Mr. German, only master farmer in British Columbia, said: "I am completely in favor of strict inspection of barns, but I think that everybody should realize that the important thing is how clean is the milk, not how clean is the barn."

"I would like to see valley boards of trade and other organizations demand that the newspapers who smeared our industry do something about correcting the very wrong impression they produced."

Farm Chief Explains PFRA Policy

VERNON, B.C. (CP)—Federal agriculture minister Gardiner said Wednesday the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Act was set up to assist "dustbowl" sections of the prairies but British Columbia is not included.

He told the annual B.C. Federation of Agriculture convention here that the PFRA applies only to a prairie area which the federal government had settled in error and now seeks to return to an agricultural program for which it is suited.

This "dustbowl" area now is being returned to rangeland with removal of farmers to more favored districts. "If you have a project which you believe needs to be done," he told B.C. farmers who have long pressed for PFRA eligibility, "take it up with us on its own merits, but don't confuse it with PFRA."

ETERNAL LIFE 'POSSIBLE... SOME DAY...'

MONTREAL (CP)—It may some day be possible for man to live forever, a United States medical scientist said Wednesday.

"I believe we are on the track of the processes that cause aging and death," Dr. Howard L. Gottlieb, head of the Life Prolongation Institute of the Bjorksten Research Foundation of Madison, Wis., told the medical staff of the Montreal Jewish General Hospital.

"If our theory is correct it may be possible to halt or reverse these processes," he said. "But the work is still theoretical and in a very early stage."

Big S-58 Helicopter Bought by B.C. Firm

MONTREAL (BUP)—A giant Sikorsky S-58 helicopter, the largest helicopter certified for commercial use, was purchased today by the Okanagan Helicopters Ltd. from Canadian Pratt and Whitney Aircraft Co. Ltd.

The announcement was made by Okanagan president Glen W. McPherson, who said the purchase of the $250,000 S-58 "is the beginning of a new expansion program at Okanagan."

The increased carrying capacity of the S-58 will more than double that of the Sikorsky S-55 and will "substantially reduce the cost per ton mile for Okanagan's freighting operation," McPherson said.

Unlike the S-55, the new whirlybird has four instead of three steel blades. The passenger version of the S-58 will accommodate 12 passengers and baggage plus a crew of two. As a freighter it has a two-ton payload with a maximum range of 970 miles, a maximum speed of 132 miles an hour. It also carries a 600-pound power operated utility hoist.

The new addition to the Okanagan fleet gives the company almost 30 'copters, including six S-55s and a swarm of more than 20 three-seater Bell helicopters.

The Okanagan, which claims to be the world's largest commercial operator, works from coast-to-coast with bases extending from its Vancouver headquarters to Kamano and Kamloops, B.C., Toronto, Ottawa and Torbay, Nfld.

Closer Ties Between West, East Urged by Montreal's Young Mayor

VANCOUVER (BUP)—Mayor Jean Drapeau of Montreal urged all Canadians today to make a "sincere effort for better mutual understanding" in order to strengthen east-west relations in the Dominion.

"What we need is a frank and clear inspection of all problems. This is the only road toward stalwart friendship and durable understanding," Drapeau was scheduled to tell the Vancouver Kiwanis Club. Text of his speech was given to newsmen in advance of delivery.

The young vice-busting mayor of Canada's largest city said the presence of the Montreal Alouettes for the Grey Cup football game was a "genuine symbol of the immensity and diversity of Canada." He said he hoped the meeting of the Alouettes and the Edmonton Eskimos would herald the "dawn of a new era of relationships between the several regions of our country."

Drapeau said these relationships could be examined in the

MAYOR JEAN DRAPEAU
... in Vancouver same spirit as that of the athletes "who are giving us the example of frankness, co-operation and equality of rights."

Canadians have never personally experienced the deep meanings of their country's motto:

"A mari usque ad mare" (from sea to sea), he added. He said "mutual ignorance" resulted in lack of understanding because Canadians in different parts of the country have been strangers to each other.

"But within a decade it would appear that people from both the west and the east have discovered each other," the mayor said. "This metamorphosis in relationships and this new dimension in our interchanges are opening the doors of a new era in the existence of our country."

The evolution is due to the great progress of transportation and communications and the growing power of information and education, Drapeau said.

"But we also owe this to a new spirit... among the younger generations in every part of the country," he said, "we see the west taking shape in the east and the east coming to life in the west on every plane of human activity."

Edmontonians Chant 'Love Those Esks' As Greet Toronto Fans in Sub-Zero Cold

EDMONTON (CP) — More than 750 cheering Edmontonians turned out today in below zero weather to welcome the two-section Toronto goodwill train bound for the Grey Cup game in Vancouver.

An RCAF band provided the music and Junior Chamber of Commerce officials provided the good wishes as the Torontonians arrived. They were to stay in Edmonton several hours.

The first item on their program was a breakfast of welcome. Members of the contingent were to parade through the heart of the city despite the icy cold temperatures.

The first section of the goodwill train was met several miles outside Edmonton by a delegation from the local Junior Chamber of Commerce, which sponsored the welcome.

A group of cheer leaders from St. Joseph's collegiate in Edmonton sparked a "bunny hop" through the station to the chant of "We Love the Esks."

'Bag of Bulbs' Campaign Starts Here Saturday

The Victoria Lions' Club "Bag of Bulbs" campaign gets underway Saturday with hundreds of area Scouts and Lions themselves selling light bulbs for club charities.

The drive will last until December 23, with half the proceeds going to Scout activities and the remainder for charitable purposes locally.

It will be a door-to-door canvass, and sales price will be $2 for nine light bulbs.

FARM MINISTER HOPES TO MIX GREY CUP WITH BUSINESS

VERNON, B.C. (CP) — Canada's Agriculture Minister Gardiner on Wednesday settled the question of whether he came out to British Columbia to attend the B.C. Federation of Agriculture annual meeting or to see the Grey Cup game.

"I came out, not to see the game, but to attend this meeting. But while I am out here," he told the farmers' convention, "I am also going to see the game, I hope."

Island Rinks Fall In Totem Bonspiel

Wednesday was the day of reckoning for the top rinks in the $11,500 Totem bonspiel at Vancouver, and Gerry Lauder's Victoria rink was among the three previously undefeated foursomes to bite the dust.

Lauder, winner of six straight games, was defeated by Bob Wright of Edmonton, 9-3, to drop out of the Evergreen primary. Lauder had earlier downed Clare Miller of Vancouver, 9-6, to reach the 16s of the Totem primary.

Other Victoria rinks have been having a tougher time of it, with Lauder the only Vancouver Island entry left in a primary.

Frank Garraway's foursome is alive in two secondary events, while Dr. Moysey and Glen Walkey are still going in one secondary each.

Garraway defeated Hutton of Vancouver, 11-5, Wednesday, to reach the 32s of the Stanley Park event, and is in the 64s of the Dogwood competition.

Walkey is in the 16s of the Capilano event, while Moysey is in the 16s of the Pacific event.

Only undefeated rinks left in the 'spiel, which winds up Friday afternoon, are Garnet Campbell of Avonlea, Sask., 1955 Dominion champion, who has won eight games, and Bung Cartmell, former B.C. champ from Vancouver, who has stretched his unbeaten skin to nine games.

ALOUETTE COACH SAYS PRESSURE EQUAL

Peahead No Predictin' Fool

By DOUGLAS (PEAHEAD) WALKER

Coach of the Montreal Alouettes VANCOUVER, B.C. (BUP)—I haven't seen Edmonton play yet, just on television and movies. But everybody tells me they're a good football team. I think Parker (quarterback Jackie Parker) is a better runner than Faloney (Bernie Faloney, last year's quarterback), but there's not much difference in their deception. I'd say Parker is a good passer but they don't throw as much out there as we do in this league.

I don't think the fact that the game will be played in Vancouver will make much difference, but any club plays better at home. The pressure in this game is about equal. Both teams want to win just as much. I don't think we'll have any trouble getting this team up for the game.

Naturally we'd like to win, but I'd be a damn fool to try and predict who's going to win. No coach ought to go around making predictions on the outcome of a game. I think the Alouettes are a better team this year than last year, but Edmonton is using a different style T-formation this year. They employ two fullbacks and no flankers.

I don't know too much about their pass defence, but I know that according to the statistics we had the best pass defence in the Big Four. I don't think we'll need to use a different defence against Edmonton than we've been using all year, but you never know for sure until you start playing the game.

I thought we played well last year. (Montreal lost to Edmonton 26-25) and I don't know if we'll have to play any better this year to win. But I do know that you can't judge what we'll do against Edmonton by what we did against Toronto last Saturday. (Montreal won, 38-36).

Grid Fever, Wet Weather Closing in on Vancouver

Als Stalled At Winnipeg; Storm Due

VANCOUVER (CP)—The unpredictable British Columbia weather became a major topic of conversation here today but thousands of football fans didn't let rain dampen their Grey Cup enthusiasm.

The weather, which is unsettled, shows no signs of improving as the Dominion public weather office reported a second Pacific storm heading inland.

The prediction for today is more rain and possibly some snow.

But for Saturday, the prospect is more cheerful as the weatherman continues to predict mild weather with a light overcast. The long term forecast calls for little or no precipitation.

TARP COVERS FIELD

At Empire Stadium here, officials said a $22,000 nylon tarpaulin was down on the football field and would remain down until there was a break in the weather.

Meanwhile, the Eskimos continued their training at Victoria while the beleaguered Alouettes are still trying to reach Vancouver.

Montreal, scheduled to arrive here Wednesday afternoon in a chartered aircraft, was delayed in Winnipeg by engine trouble. By the time repairs had been made it had grown dark and Alouette vice-president Virobeck decided to bed his team down for the night, instead of risking a night flight in poor weather.

The players, wives and Montreal officials were expected to resume their journey this morning and arrive at Vancouver International airport at noon, PST.

The full program of special Grey Cup attractions also got under way.

Wednesday night 9,000 persons braved the rain to witness a fireworks display, precision drill and band concert, put on by the army, navy and air force at Kitsilano beach.

More hi-jinks are planned for today including a cowboy band from Calgary giving a concert in the lobby of the Hotel Vancouver.

The main street in Chinese quarters will be roped off in the evening as the city's Chinese stage ceremonial dances and fireworks.

MARILYN BELL ARRIVES

Marilyn Bell, Toronto's famed long-distance swimmer arrived here Wednesday evening. She will appear at the party Friday night where Miss Grey Cup will be chosen.

Miss Alouette and Miss Eskimo spearheaded the invasion of the beauty queens Wednesday morning, arriving on a special train with mascot baby pig in tow.

The porker, named Ella Wetta, was given to the Montreal contingent in Medicine Hat by Mayor Harry Veiner.

Mayor Jean Drapeau of Montreal and the Alouette band were expected to arrive at 10.10 a.m. this morning by plane while a second contingent of Montreal supporters will pull into the CPR station about the same time aboard a special train.

DRESSED TO KILL

Grey Cup decorations have appeared in shop windows while the city has lined streets with Grey Cup placards, placed under colorful Christmas decorations.

The rush for 3,500 standing room tickets started Wednesday. The ticket bureau still had 1,000 left at the end of the day.

A teen-aged couple spent a seven-hour vigil in front of the ticket office to be the first served when the office opened in the morning.

'Grad' Games Set At Oak Bay High

Oak Bay High School basketballers open their season Friday night at the school with the annual contest with the Ex-Grads.

The senior game will be preceded by a senior girls' tussle starting at 8.30.

Huddersfield Town Buys Star Forward

HUDDERSFIELD, England (CP)—Huddersfield Town, struggling to remain in the English soccer league's First Division, today announced the signing of Aston Villa's £22,000 centre-forward, Dave Hickson.

Villa signed the 25-year-old Hickson from Everton less than three months ago.

Hickson's dashing play was a big factor in Everton's promotion to the First Division two seasons ago, but he was dropped to Villa's reserve side a week after scoring only one goal in 12 league games this season.

Huddersfield is reported to have paid a fee just under the £22,000 Villa gave Everton for Hickson last September.

ESKS' TED NO ORATOR—HE'LL TALK SATURDAY

Edmonton Eskimo guard Ted Tully went back to the Victoria Y Wednesday night to visit the swimming club.

Archie McKinnon introduced him to the youngsters, sketched Ted's start as a tadpole in the same pool and, turning to the Grey Cup performer, asked "Would you like to say a word or two to the kids?" Ted waved his hand like a windshield-wiper and said, "Hi."

Archie repeated his question, "Would you like to say a word or two to the kids?"

"I just did" came back the answer.

ROYALS BLAST SEATTLE

Flyers, Regals Battle to Draw

By The Canadian Press

Edmonton Flyers and Regina Regals battled to 5-5 tie in the Alberta city while New Westminster went to Seattle to blast the Americans 8-5 in the two Western Hockey League games Wednesday night.

The tie left Flyers in second place in the league's prairie division and the Regals remained in the cellar.

In the coast division, the Royals moved for the first time from the bottom to a third-place tie with the Americans.

At Edmonton, Bill Dea scored twice for the Flyers and Ray Kinasevich, Hugh Coffin and Gerry Melnyk got the others. For Regina, marksmen were Gord Stratton, Murray Wilkie, George Senick, Dale Sweeney and Norm Johnson.

Regals came from behind twice to gain the tie. Flyers led 2-0 at the end of the first period, were tied 4-4 at the end of the second and 5-5 at the end of the third.

Worst of season Meanwhile, New Westminster handed Seattle its worst defeat of the season as they came from behind a first-period 2-1 deficit—despite Ollie Dorohoy's hat trick for the Americans.

Within 57 seconds of the second, Royals' Blinky Boyce tied the score and that touched off their scoring spree. Other Royals marksmen were Max McNab with two, Gordy Fashway, Doug Adam, Bobby Love, Bob Bergeron and Jim Zarie.

Also scoring for Seattle were E. Dorohoy, Jim Bowness and A. Kubnag.

On Friday night, Royals will bring the same firepower that blasted Seattle to Victoria. Attempting to shake off a current slump, Cougars meet Royals at Memorial Arena at 8.30.

POINT SPREAD

If you don't like doing business that way, you can bet on a points basis, for even money. If you bet on Edmonton, they need only come within six points of winning for you to collect. But Alouettes must win by nine points for you to win a bet on them.

That's in Toronto. In Vancouver you can shop around. A fin will get you $8 if you bet on Edmonton and win. If you take Als, you'll win a fiver if you put up $6 or $7, depending on the bookie.

In Montreal they're playing it cagey. It's strictly even money with few takers. Some bookies are giving Edmonton six points, but that's all.

University Extends Win Streak

University School defeated Victoria College II 14-3, Wednesday to remain undefeated in the Victoria Rugby Unions second division.

Stamer, with a try, a convert and a penalty kick led the winners in scoring. University School had an 8-0 lead at half-time.

Saturday, Victoria College will meet Oak Bay Wanderers in a first division match at Windsor Park, while Navy meets Wanderers in a second division tussle at HMCS Naden field at 2.30 Sunday.

Grey Cup Briefs

VANCOUVER (CP)—Grey Cup briefs:

A parade will follow the Grey Cup parade Saturday as 50 men, eight trucks and four mechanical sweepers follow the official parade to pick up an estimated ton of waste paper and confetti expected to be dumped on the route.

Forty Edmonton club officials and fans arrived by plane Wednesday morning, led by club president Moe Lieberman and director Walter Sprague.

Edmonton boosters have decided against erecting an "igloo" in the Hotel Vancouver lobby to hand out souvenirs to fans this year. Montreal fans at the Toronto final last year smashed the booth.

Reception for an estimated 4,000 fans, and the Edmonton players, will be held in the hotel ballroom Saturday night, sponsored by Eskimo boosters.

Downtown hotels here are taking a tip from Toronto and clearing their lobbies of furniture and portable objects.

"Love those Eskies" badges began appearing in numbers on Vancouver streets shortly after the vanguard of Edmonton fans and officials arrived.

The advance agent for the Toronto delegation Wednesday ordered 250 box lunches for the Torontonians to eat at the game.

An Empire Stadium official said the $22,000 nylon tarpaulin was down on the football field and would remain down until there was a break in the weather.

The tarp was laid down after nine tons of straw had been spread over the field where the Grey Cup game will be played.

Taking over where the Red Cross leaves off, the Vancouver Sun has invited all visiting newspaper reporters—here for the Grey Cup—to a grey taste party in the Sun tower Sunday morning.

"... We at The Sun figured the dull, sickening thud would be heard sometime between the final gun and the bottom of the aspirin box," the story says.

The invitation is illustrated with a six-column drawing of a cigar-smoking figure with a press card in his hat and map of torn-up Empire Stadium on his tongue.

Phil's Salvage Job Pays Off for Blues

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
New York Rangers are in second place in the National Hockey League—the highest they've been in years. Why?

The reason could well be traced to coach Phil Watson's method of getting better performances out of his boys by publicly criticizing them when they play poorly.

Wednesday night Phil watched Rangers blank Boston Bruins 4-0. Three follows he had raked over the coals for indifferent play figured prominently in the win.

Dean Prentice scored twice and Danny Lewicki once in the night's only NHL engagement. Lorne Worley has seldom been better in the Blueshirts nets. He registered his second shutout of the season with a great game as he kicked out 35 Bruin shots.

It was only last Friday that Watson publicly blasted Prentice and Lewicki. He said he was far from pleased with their play. Worley was the target of Watson's criticism last month and apparently is still bearing it in mind. Watson told him he would be sent to the minors if he didn't improve.

CREIGHTON GETS OTHER

The other Ranger scorer was Dave Creighton, considered to be on the skids by many experts until Watson got hold of him this season and gave him plenty of work.

The victory, before 14,280 fans at New York's Madison Square Garden, gave Rangers a four-point edge over Chicago Black Hawks and the Bruins, both tied for third place with 18 points each. Montreal Canadiens lead the league with 22 points, six more than Rangers.

Detroit Red Wings are in fifth spot, a game ahead of Toronto Maple Leafs, who have 15 points.

Worley, who has allowed 18 goals to get by him in the 11 games since Oct. 23—the date of Watson's blast—was kept busy in the initial frame as he blocked 15 shots. Terry Sawchuk, in the Bruins' nets, stopped six in that period. He handled 30 in that game.

Three games are scheduled for tonight. Canadiens are at Detroit, Toronto at Chicago and Rangers at Boston.

Russ Puck Team Plays in London

LONDON (AP)—Russia's ice hockey team arrived in London Wednesday for three matches against crack British professional teams. It's part of the Russians' preparations for the winter Olympics in Cortina, Italy, in January.

The Russians asked that their matches be handled by neutral referees.

PRINCE EARLY THIS TIME, WRESTLES HERE TONIGHT

A stitch in time saves nine and all that sort of thing, said Prince Mai Iva of Samoa, as he arrived in Victoria Wednesday.

The Prince, booked into the main event tonight at Victoria Ballroom on the weekly professional wrestling show, disappointed the mat fans last week by not showing up.

Taking a decision from the weather last week, Mai Iva took no chances Wednesday and arrived in town a day early. He will meet Don Kindred in tonight's main event.

Also on the show are Tex McKenzie and Al "Murder" Mills, who tangle in the semi-main; and Ken Kenneth, who meets Irish Jack Dillon in the special event at 8.30.

James Will Trade Cleats for Skates

TORONTO (BUP)—Ex-footballer Gerry James, one of the best of Canada's homebrew gridiron giants, says it will be at least a month before he gets into a Maple Leaf hockey game.

His new boss, Leafs general manager Hap Day who signed him to a two-year hockey contract, went along with James' statement.

Gerry, who played with the junior champions, Toronto Marlboros last year, said: "It generally takes me a month to get into condition for hockey after the football season. My wind, my leg muscles and my timing all have to be changed when I change sports."

"The wind is very important because in football, you only go hard for brief spells, but in hockey, you go full blast for a more prolonged period."

SURPRISE JUMP

James' opportunity to jump into the major hockey field came as a surprise to sports observers.

There had been no inkling that the Leafs were about to sign the versatile 21-year-old athlete who finished second to Edmonton's Normie Kwong among WIFU ground gainers this year, and was picked as a western offensive player on the first east-west Canadian all-star football game.

He said he is by-passing the all-star game Dec. 3 because it wouldn't be fair to the Leafs to take a chance of injury. "There is considerable difference between the financial terms of my hockey contract and my football contract," he said. "Hockey will pay me more and that's why I chose it."

"Then I figure that I'll last longer in hockey if I do make the grade. A hockey player can count on at least 10 years of security while a football player's life isn't nearly that long."

James also said hockey would leave him in a better position when his playing days are over. "I mean for either business or coaching or management," he explained.

Day told James he could return to football in two years if he found his hockey career didn't pan out.

VINCE ON COMEBACK
ST. LOUIS (AP)—Vince Martinez of Paterson, N.J., boxed and punched his way to a unanimous decision over Chris Christensen of Denmark Wednesday night in a 10-round bout on the road Martinez hopes will lead him to a chance at the welterweight title.

Social Outcast this year completed the biggest season of his career with seven stakes victories on six different tracks to pile up $388,275 in a single season, a record for aged horses. His lifetime earnings now total $621,800.

The Vanderbilt gelding started his racing career at Santa Anita in 1952 but he was overshadowed by Native Dancer until his more famed stablemate was retired. Social Outcast was flown west last summer to win the Sunset handicap at Hollywood Park. He also is a proven turf course runner, having finished third in the Washington, D.C., International recently.

A PROBLEM TO LIVE WITH

VANCOUVER (CP)—K. M. Montgomery of Edmonton, executive member of the Canadian Rugby Union, said here Tuesday the scalping of Grey Cup tickets is a "problem for the local attorney-general."

Montgomery said the bootlegging of the tickets is something the town sponsoring the game "has to live with."

"In Toronto," he said, "people caught scalping tickets for high prices were thrown in the bucket, and in B.C. it is a problem for the local attorney-general."

Reds, Hornets In AHL Lead

By United Press
The Providence Reds and the Pittsburgh Hornets, only four points apart in the battle for the top spot in the American Hockey League race, play the loop's two weakest teams tonight.

The first-place Reds entertain the Springfield Indians, while the Hornets, who shaded the Indians, 3-2, in overtime Wednesday night, play host to the last-place Hershey Bears. The Cleveland Barons play the Buffalo Bisons in Buffalo in the third game.

After Marius Groleau "had knotted the score at 2-2 at 8:47 of the third period, Springfield and Pittsburgh battled until 8:57 of the extra period when Willie Marshall rammed home the winning goal."

KIRK DOUGLASES NOW THREESOME

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The wife of actor Kirk Douglas Wednesday gave birth to an eight-pound son, Peter, their first child. Douglas and the former Anne Brydens were married in May, 1954. He has two sons by a previous marriage.

Yvonne Delays Honeymoon— Hubby Working

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor Sterling Hayden wrenched his back Wednesday and thus interrupted stuntman Robert Morgan's honeymoon with actress Yvonne de Carlo. Morgan reports today to replace Hayden in the long shots of "Bed of Fear."

A doctor said Hayden slipped a disc in a fight scene and his back is in a cast. A studio spokesman said Morgan is the only stuntman in town who physically resembles Hayden. Morgan and the Vancouver-born actress were wed Monday in Reno.

CONFIDENTIALLY YOURS

—by Byrne Hope Sanders

MONTREAL, November 24th—Doesn't this make sense to you? The reason I am so truly enthusiastic about WOODBURY COCOANUT OIL SHAMPOO is that it is made of natural oils—and so protects the natural oils in your own hair. This wonderful shampoo leaves your hair shining with cleanliness—soft and pretty. You'll find your hair hasn't been "dried out" but is truly lovely. So use Woodbury out for yourselves that Woodbury can be sold for far less than other quality shampoos. So get Woodbury for your family today!

"Oh Boy! That Looks Good!"... You'll find your children really enjoy BRES, the whole-grain cereal with extra wheat germ added. Youngsters like the delicate, nutty flavor of Bres, just as much as grown-ups! And while your family enjoys the stimulation of a hot, nourishing breakfast—you can have the satisfaction of knowing that they're getting the essential nutrients and precious B Vitamins that are so important in building for health. Bres can be served so easily A, for it cooks in just three minutes. Look for the big blue box—and the helpful recipe ideas for using Bres in many ways!

Give Aladdin's Lamp for Christmas. You know—the sort of lamp you rub, and make a wish, and your wish comes true! Lots of people do! Only in the form of a holly-decorated BANK OF MONTREAL Christmas cheque, or B of M money order in brightly colored envelope, or B of M passbook—with a nice balance inside—enclosed in a gay Christmas passbook cover. The happy recipients of these ideal gifts can then either purchase the objects of their heart's desire, or keep the money, and add to it, in a B of M Savings Account—for something special later. It's a wonderful way of making people's wishes come true... and a great solution to your own gift problems. See your local B of M about it today!

Why Penalize Yourself... with nasal stuffiness and dry nostrils? They make office work harder... make housework more difficult... make you yourself less attractive! So do what thousands of wise ones are doing—use MENTHOLATUM!... Whether it's excessive dryness... too much smoking or dust... Mentholum will help to bring you easier, clearer breathing. Spread this fine product liberally inside each nostril—then sniff well back!... Use Mentholum at night if nasal stuffiness or dryness keeps you awake. De write me a GENUINE FREE SAMPLE! Confidentially Yours, 1411 Crescent St., Montreal.

It Gives Me Such Pleasure... to tell you that Instant Chase & Sanborn Coffee is now perfected by an exclusive new "Gentle-Brewing" process—which brings you an instant coffee that really has the flavor of freshly made coffee. You can see the results of this secret "Gentle-Brewing"—just look through the window in the side of a new jar of INSTANT CHASE & SANBORN COFFEE—and see the rich, delicate color of coffee that has been perfectly brewed... never scorched or over-cooked! "Gentle-Brewed" Chase & Sanborn has broken through the flavor barrier of the not-quite-right taste of so many Instants. Get the NEW Instant Chase & Sanborn for the true, bracing flavor of freshly made coffee!

Fifty Dish-Washings from one bottle of Liquid Detergent GAY! Does that sound impossible to you? Then do it and you'll see how economical this new wonder-working Gay really is. You'll find you get more for the money with Gay than with any other liquid or powder detergent. Gay washes dishes—silver—glassware—so that it shines with cleanliness! It has extra grease-cutting powers, too, and keeps your pots and pans gleaming. Yet, because of its special formula Gay is very gentle on your hands! I wish you'd get a bottle of Liquid Detergent on your next order—and share my very real enthusiasm!

A Pleasant New Adventure... or a battle of wits? What's it to be with your baby with the first spoon feedings? You'll find these important first meals of solid food go much more smoothly with CERTIFIED AYLMER Baby Foods—I'm thinking especially of Asparagus, Carrots, Beets and Beans. These vegetables are prepared just for babies—they are very finely strained so that they're easily digestible. Your babe will really enjoy the bland, delicate flavors, and will thrive on the minerals and vitamins they contain. Certified Aylmer Baby Foods are purely Canadian products packed by a Canadian Company. Pick up some today.

C (To put in time)

(A) "THE KENTUCKIAN"

(Odeon)—By any yardstick you care to use this Cinemascope, Technicolor Hecht-Lancaster production is about as solid and as off-beat a "western" as you are likely to see in 1955.

With its plot laid in the wild backwoods of Kentucky of the 1820s, "The Kentuckian" sees Burt ("Come Back Little Sheba") Lancaster and his small son Donald MacDonald trekking their way from a feud-to-the-fabulous new land of Texas. On their way, however, they pick up servant girl Dianne Foster and stop over at Lancaster's brother's place to replenish their pockets with money. There Lancaster's brother John McIntyre and wife Una Merkel try to get him to settle down and become a business man. They even hold out winsome school teacher Diana Lynn as bait.

"THE KENTUCKIAN" marks Lancaster's debut as director. He should be most happy with the results. For mostly the film is of an adult nature. Based on Felix Horn's novel, "The Gabriel Horn," the film is peopled with believable characters. For instance here Lancaster doesn't ride roughshod over the "bad guys" but takes a terrific beating from whip-swinging bully Walter Mathau. At another moment he is running for his life with riverboat gamblers hard on his heels. At still others he is the butt of the caustic humor of backwoods wisecracks and made to look a simpleton. Even son Donald picks up the odd shiner at school and ends up by being whipped by a school mate.

The color photography, of course, taking in the storied land of "Kaintuck", the river boats, the minstrels, and the muck and the mud, the sweetness of the woods coupled with the deep bugle of the hounds is all of high excellence.

Negro Louisville Mayor

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A Negro will serve as a temporary mayor here next week for the first time in the city's history. The board of Aldermen selected Alderman William W. Beckett for the post. He will serve in the absence of Mayor Andrew Broadus, who plans to attend a municipal conference in Miami for four days.

Sam Howard, Noted Comedy Actor, Dies

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor Sam (Shemp) Howard, 59, a member of the "Three Stooges" film comedy team, died Tuesday night of a heart attack.

The Stooges, specializing in frantic farce, had made eight two-reelers a year for 23 years for Columbia pictures. Sam Howard was the member who combed his hair straight back with a part in the middle. His partners were his brother, Moe Howard, who wears a bobbed black wig, and Larry Fine, whose fuzzy wig extends in all directions.

Ann Harding Daughter Wed

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Jane Harding, 25-year-old daughter of actress Ann Harding, honeymooned today with Albert Paul Otto Jr., a San Francisco stockbroker, whom she married in a simple ceremony Wednesday at the Swedenborgian church.

Among those attending the ceremony were the bride's mother and stepfather, Werner Janssen of New York, a concert conductor for Columbia Broadcasting System.

ANGLICANS PLANNING BIG CANVASS

An "every member" canvass by the 23 Anglican churches of the Greater Victoria area is planned Sunday. More than 500 canvassers will call on 25,000 families to spread the message "To live, give of time, talent and money."

Sixty Anglican rectors and church wardens attended an organizational dinner at St. Saviour's church to plan the canvass, part of the national policy of every Anglican diocese in the Canadian church.

Fire Destroys Six Businesses; Five Homeless

Hamiota Loses Business Section

HAMIOTA, Man. (CP)—The main street business section of this town was almost wiped out Wednesday when fire, backed by a strong sub-zero wind, destroyed six business establishments and left two families homeless.

No one was injured in the blaze, brought under control after two hours by volunteer firemen who had been rushed in from nearby Shoal Lake, Rivers and Kenton to aid the Hamiota fire department.

Mayor E. P. Venables said damage may run as high as $200,000.

Hamiota is a town of 600 persons about 40 miles northwest of Brandon.

The fire started in the chimney of the McConnell Brothers automobile and farm implement garage and burst out in the large hall over the garage. Firefighters had it almost controlled when the wind fanned it to other buildings on the west side of the main street.

FIVE PERSONS HOMELESS

Destroyed by the blaze were a funeral parlor, a meat market, a jewelry store, an electrical shop, and the offices and plant of the Echo Printing Co., which publishes a weekly newspaper. Five persons in two families living over the Jasper Electrical shop and the printing plant were left homeless.

Most of the stock and equipment from the stores and garage was saved as well as a large part of the furniture in the living quarters destroyed.

The fire was stopped at the stone wall of a drug store which was also partly damaged. The drug store and another brick store were the only ones left standing in the business block.

V.I. Holly Crop Cold Damage May Hit $15,000

Holly decorations in homes and stores throughout Canada and the United States will be less this year due to the severe cold damage sustained by Vancouver Island holly growers, who supply all the Canadian market and much of the U.S.

Members of the Vancouver Island Holly Growers' Co-operative report a minimum loss of $15,000 in the early November cold snap. A loss of up to 50 per cent has occurred on some farms.

The cold weather attacked the bushes before sap stopped flowing, causing discoloration of leaves and berries.

FIRST FATHER, SON, GRANDSON COMBINATION?

Donald Winch Running-Mate Of Grandad in Burnaby Riding

VANCOUVER—Voters in the last year, Burnaby, which has been two-member Burnaby provincial riding could find the names of two Winches on the ballot slip at the next B.C. election.

Names of the present veteran MLA Ernest E. Winch and that of his 25-year-old grandson, Donald, will be placed before the nominating committee of the Burnaby CCF Constituency Association at 8 p.m. Friday in the Edmunds Hall.

Donald Winch, an auto mechanic for Hume & Rumble, is the son of Harold Winch, MP for Vancouver East, who sat with his father, Ernest, in the provincial legislature from 1933 until his election to the federal house in 1953.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

Fire (not dog) is believed to be Man's Best Friend. Delivers into prehistoric times Man's discovery of fire as the greatest thing which ever happened to him.

But personal observation and discreet inquiries among other husbands have convinced me Woman will never accept fire as HER best friend.

Woman and fire may, at times, achieve an armed truce. I can't picture the two of them, though, strolling arm and arm through life.

Woman is basically suspicious of fire. Unlike the Moth, the Woman is not attracted by the open flame. She is more inclined to recoil in horror before an uncovered blaze, and to run about crying "surely the house will burn down."

I am convinced Woman did this even before Man had produced a house which could, under given circumstances, burn down.

Because of the lack of printed words in the era of Homo sapiens sapiens, about 650,000 years ago, it is difficult to produce documented proof. Nevertheless, I am sure of this: when the first Homo sapiens sapiens brought home a burning brand set alight by volcanic activity, his Woman said to him:

"Take that thing away from here. It might cause a fire."

And Homo sapiens sapiens said to his Woman: "Why, that is exactly what I have in mind. What we need around here is a fire, to keep us warm and cook up a chunk of meat now and then."

And his Woman sniffed and said: "That's all very well, but what will happen if your precious fire ups and burns the house down?"

"How could it?" Homo sapiens sapiens (I feel sure) said to his Woman. "We don't have a house to burn down."

"Well we would," sneered his Woman. "If you weren't such a lazy good-for-nothing and would only join a do-it-yourself course as I've asked you and asked you and asked you..."

So it was probably 50,000 years later before prehistoric man (possibly an especially brave Lower Paleolithic type) finally prevailed upon his woman to tolerate a small fire for cooking and heating purposes.

(Actually, she must have been feeling weak and unwell at the time, or she'd never have allowed it.)

One of the undocumented but, I am sure, authentic episodes in pre-history happened about 165,000 B.C. A Man of that era created fire by rubbing two sticks of wood together, and proudly built an outdoor barbecue directly in front of his dwelling, which happened to be a cave recently vacated by demised mastodon.

"You are causing a fire," his Woman accused him. "Stop this instant."

"Look, dear," said the Man, "I wish to have my mastodon steak cooked the way I like it, just for once."

"Humph," his Woman humphed. "You've always liked your steaks rare, and that's the way you are going to get them," she said.

"Don't you realize you are going to burn the house down?" she added, throwing a bucket of water on the fire.

"If you want well-done steaks, wait until somebody invents electricity," she ordered.

That's the way it was in prehistoric times, and that's the way it is now. And if you don't believe me, try building up a nice, spark-shooting, chimney screaming blaze in YOUR fireplace and see what happens.

Fines, Suspensions Levied Against Three Motorists

Licence suspensions and fines of $5 or five days in jail each were imposed on three men when they appeared in city police court today on careless driving charges.

Court was told Marcel Gringras, HMCS Naden, was charged after being involved in an accident Nov. 9 on Burnside near Jutland.

He told investigating officers he "went to sleep a little bit."

Police said he collided with a parked car at about 6.35 a.m.

Arthur Newton Green, 30 Douglas, appeared on a charge arising from a two-car accident Oct. 28 at Simcoe and Montreal. He had been driving east on Simcoe and failed to stop for a stop sign, colliding with a car driven south on Montreal, court heard.

A two-car accident Nov. 2 at Oswego and Superior resulted in a court appearance for Harry R. McDonald, 3333 Oak. Police testified he had pulled out from a stop sign on Oswego when in collision with a car driven east on Superior, resulting in $700 total damages.

A chartered yacht will carry three Victoria orchestras to Port Angeles tonight for the annual musicians' ball.

There will be room for up to 20 additional couples and those wishing to make the trip should contact Don Partridge at 4-5031. Dance and excursion costs $5. The yacht leaves at 7 p.m. from the Causeway.

City orchestras represented will be the Rodeo Rascals, Gordon King's jazz band and Andy Anderson's orchestra.

Newly-appointed director of Ottawa's National Gallery, Alan Jarvis, will address the Women's Canadian Club at the Empress hotel Monday at 2.45 p.m., and at 8.30 p.m. will speak to members of the Art Gallery, Moss Street.

Women members of the Art Gallery have been invited to the Canadian Club meeting. The Art Gallery meeting is restricted to gallery members as an overflow turnout is expected.

Aladar Ecsedy, Hungarian pianist, who conducted classes at St. Ann's Academy and gave concerts at the Arts Centre here last summer, will appear in Vancouver police court soon on a false pretenses charge arising in Victoria.

Ecsedy is accused of passing a worthless cheque for $41.50 on a city merchant on Aug. 19. Police here have forwarded information to Vancouver, where the charge will be dealt with by consent of the pianist.

He was given suspended sentence in Vancouver on Monday on two other false pretense charges.

W. T. McLaughlin, Victoria, today was appointed a conciliation officer in a dispute between Hospital Employees' Federal Union Local 180 (FLC) and four Vancouver Island hospitals.

The hospital workers are seeking fringe benefits involving sick leave, annual vacation, statutory holidays, superannuation and a medical plan.

No wage increase is being sought. Negotiations affect some 200 employees of Nanaimo General, Ladysmith General, King's Daughters at Duncan and West Coast General at Port Alberni.

All of the club's 3,500 members have been asked to help make SD Day "no accident" day. Attention is drawn, in a circular letter, to

Cabinet Considers Commission Collapse

Provincial cabinet today was scheduled to consider an order-in-council that would authorize appointment of two men to the Campbell River village commission, and thus give the village a governing body.

Its five-man commission collapsed Tuesday and Wednesday with the resignation of the chairman and two commissioners because firms with which they were associated did business with the commission.

"We will appoint two people so the commission can continue to operate until the normal elections and by-elections can be held," said an official of the municipal affairs department.

Names of appointees have not been revealed by the department, but it is known that Gordon Mason and Frank Wolfe of the up-Island centre are willing to accept such appointments and have been recommended for them.

The department also will appoint a chairman.

Mr. Mason is a service station operator and member of Campbell River Rotary Club. Mr. Wolfe, a longshoreman, is a representative here of the B.C. Social Credit League.

A by-election will be necessary in the December municipal election to fill the seat of J. W. Baillie, commission chairman, who had a year yet to serve. Commissioners Sidney Waters, field and Carl Thulin, who resigned Tuesday, were due to end their two-year terms in December.

Remaining commissioners are John Lambie and Charles Granholm, whose terms will expire in December, 1956.

A disqualified member of the commission faces heavy penalties if the commission or private individual launches a suit.

DVA Chief Asks Vets Tax Parley

Agreement Sought With B.C. Government

Veterans Affairs Minister Hugues Lapointe said here today the matter of "double taxation" of veterans in and out of DVA hospitals will be discussed with the provincial government.

Victoria Man Ordination Here Dec. 1

A Victoria man, R. Grant Bracewell, BA, will be ordained a minister in the United Church by a commission of the B.C. Conference, Dec. 1, in Metropolitan United Church.

He will be the fifth minister to be ordained this year in B.C., and will be inducted as minister of the United Church at Bella Coola after his ordination.

Among those taking part in the ceremony at Metropolitan Church will be Rev. G. H. Hamilton, MA, DD, president of the B.C. Conference, and Rev. P. R. Kelly, DD, chairman of the Victoria Presbytery.

Prior to graduating from UBC in 1950, Mr. Bracewell attended Victoria public schools and Victoria College. This year he graduated in theology from Union College, a UBC affiliate in Vancouver.

In addition to business experience, he has taken a prominent part in youth work, organized summer camps and spent several terms on mission fields.

His father is B.C. Bracewell, recently retired deputy minister of municipal affairs for B.C.

Last year there were more than 600 candidates for the ministry in the United Church, in various stages of training—the highest number on record. But the church is still facing a shortage of full-time workers to meet rapid expansion in new areas.

Mr. Bracewell is a service station operator and member of Campbell River Rotary Club. Mr. Wolfe, a longshoreman, is a representative here of the B.C. Social Credit League.

EX-COUNCILLOR ROBINSON

Candidates Appear for Oak Bay Vote

A contest for civic office in Oak Bay, became certain today with announcement of former councillor Fred A. Robinson that he will again seek a council seat.

Wednesday night, two additional candidates for the single police commission opening were announced. They are James W. Gray and Leonard Parkin. They will oppose Mr. George Murdoch who seeks re-election both to council and police commission.

Reeve F. E. Norris is still unopposed.

Mr. Robinson, a well-known general contractor, served four years on council prior to 1953. Born in England he has lived in Oak Bay since infancy and was educated there. He is 42 years old, married and has two children.

He said he is running because he thinks he can contribute something to the municipal council and not because he has any particular "bone to pick" with present administration.

Mr. Gray, 40, 523 Oliver, has lived in Oak Bay since 1950 and is employed as assistant manager in a Victoria department store. He came from Winnipeg and stated that he is a candidate "just to serve the municipality."

Mr. Parkin is 41, married with one daughter. His home is at 1330 Mitchell and he has lived in Oak Bay five years. He was born in Victoria and is employed as representative of a stapling machine firm. He stated that his candidacy was announced "... because I think the police commission is a good start to service in public life."

Preliminary plans for development of a Meadowpark playground in the Gorge area were advanced Wednesday at St. Martin's hall, Obed.

Named officers of a special playground committee were: president, V. J. Gibbs; vice-president, John Lumley; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Ron Grant; and publicity convenor, Mrs. Gordon O'Brien.

Named committee chairman were Mrs. J. Caton, W. Rowe, Fred Messerschmidt and Mrs. J. Caddell.

ASK THE TIMES

Q.—Will you tell me why there is such a large block in this district of our city without mail boxes, that is, from Hillside south to downtown, and from Quadra west to Douglas, and as far south as the H.B. Co.—S.

A.—The postmaster points out that in the area under discussion the mail boxes are as numerous as in other sections of the city. In fact, some are closer than the average.

Along Douglas there are boxes at Douglas and Hillside, at Douglas and Kings (also at Blanshard and Kings), Douglas and Queens, and at Douglas and Pembroke. Along Quadra there are boxes at Quadra and Hillside, Quadra and Pembroke, Quadra and North Park and Quadra and Pandora. A survey is at present in progress.

Q.—Is incurable insanity grounds for divorce in Canada and/or B.C.—H.S.

A.—No.

PRESENT PREXY HAS LONG MEMORY

Ex-CRU President Living Here Gets Gift of Grey Cup Ducats

By MONTE ROBERTS

Jim McCaffrey of Ottawa, president of the Canadian Rugby Union, has a long memory, and thus Major D. L. McKeand, 1725 Beach Drive, has two treasured tickets to the Grey Cup final at Vancouver Saturday.

What Jim McCaffrey remembered was the name of the president of the CRU in 1908—none other than Major McKeand. He is believed to be the oldest living CRU past president. And, knowing he now lives in Victoria, McCaffrey sent along the tickets.

Is the Major, now a hearty, happy 77, going to the game? "Wouldn't miss it for anything," he said this morning. He and Mrs. McKeand are going to Vancouver on the midnight ball Friday, come rain, snow, hail or fog.

Major McKeand is not only a former CRU "badger," but a star athlete. He was born in Hamilton, near the old Hamilton cricket grounds, and there at an early age, was introduced to his two favorite sports—cricket and football.

WITH CHAMPS

He starred with the Hamilton Tigers, playing an aggressive inside wing, when he tipped the scales at 165 fighting pounds. He was with the Tigers in 1904 when they were declared Canadian champions.

"None of the other teams would play us in the final," says Major McKeand. "We all had different sets of rules."

The Tigers were the first CRU team to use the 12-man team with seven-man line, the five-man backfield, and the snap back to put the ball in play.

Signals were barked by the quarterback—"We wasted no time in huddles," says the major, with some scorn.

The other teams used a modified scrum type of scrum, with only three men on the line and a total of 15 men on the field.

GREAT GOINGS-ON

His most vivid memory of a Canadian football championship is the final of 1910—not the game itself so much as the after-game shenanigans.

At least 10,000 people invaded Hamilton for the game, between the Tigers and University of Toronto. Five special trains carried fans from Toronto. Stands had been built around three sides of the field, and mild efforts were made to charge for the use of the seats, but the major suspects there were hundreds of free-loaders.

When the collegians had blunted the Tiger's claws, 16-7, the crowd surged onto the field in a mass of humanity. The innkeepers of Hamilton, anticipating a riot, closed all the bars immediately after the game, and you couldn't buy a drink anywhere in the city.

But the crowd's enthusiasm carried on regardless. Street cars were stopped; traffic was clogged and Hamilton was football mad until the Sabbath arrived.

Major McKeand also played hockey, when it was "mostly shanny," and rowed for the Winnipeg Rowing Club.

His athletic career was interrupted by two wars—the South African and the First World War. He enlisted in the first as a private, won promotions on the field to lieutenant. In the First World War his promotions also came in the face of the enemy, and he was awarded the Military Cross, and was wounded twice.

Major and Mrs. McKeand have lived in Victoria for the past 10 years.

As for Saturday's game, Major McKeand has a hunch it will be an Eskimo victory—but he won't say who he's rooting for.

FULL GREY CUP STORY IN FINAL SATURDAY

The final edition of the Times on Saturday, with full coverage of the Grey Cup game in Vancouver, will be on the streets shortly before 5 p.m. it is expected, depending on the time the game ends.

Times sports editor Bill Walker, with football expert Denny Boyd and photographer Bill Halkett are covering the game for the Times.

Major and Mrs. McKeand wave treasured tickets aloft.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Jewelers' Bronze Pieces Perfect Anniversary Gifts

By PENNY SAVER

They shine and glow and need no polishing. These are the wonderful features of the new jewelers' bronze dishes being shown in a local store. They will blend in perfectly with any type of setting, and the time and work saved by their everlasting shine will win you over to their beauty. Each piece is in a classically plain line and design and smooth and well-crafted. A glowing golden color, these would be perfect gifts for golden anniversaries, and can be easily engraved. A bon-dish costs $4, while a flat, curved edge bowl costs $6. A dainty mint dish is $2.75, and a large serving bowl is $5.50. For a distinctive piece, a flower bowl has three candle holders spaced around the rim. This handsome piece costs $18.75. The beauty cannot grow thin or change color, for each dish or platter is the same all the way through.

If you're looking for inexpensive, yet smart and distinctive glassware, the mother-of-pearl crystal is for you. To adapt with good china, this crystal has a small edging of gold plate around the base and on the nob of the stem glasses. As the light hits this crystal, the mother of pearl glint of all colors is seen. Mauve and green and sparkles of pink and blue reflect as if from a prism. There are 10 shapes to choose from, plus plates to complete the sherry set. Each piece costs $1, and it's open stock. Gifts in good taste yet within a budget.

A touch of luxury. That's what these exquisite bud vases are. Yes, they're lovely, but not nearly so expensive as you would think. They're pure crystal, with a hand-cut full blown rose on the front. This rose is inlaid with 24 karat gold. Or for an even more frivolous touch, one that will bring oh's and ah's and mahy a compliment, buy the similarly shaped bud vase with an inlay of platinum in the rose. These are priced from $3.75 and would be wonderful gifts to give or to receive. A rose bowl, shaped into almost a complete circle with just a hole at the top, has a matching inlay rose and costs $5.95.

Something for a rather sophisticated but definitely adventurous friend? First, does she smoke? If so, here's one gift that will give a bit of a chuckle and also will be useful. Cigarette holders for women have taken on a brand new look. They're made of heat-resistant plastic in clear blue, green, pink or yellow. Many have glitter inside, and all are distinctive with rhinestone bands at some point along the length. They sparkle and suit the personality of the user. All come in matching

Guild Bazaar Makes $600

Boughs of cedar, holly and poinsettias decorated St. John's Parish Hall recently for the annual bazaar and tea sponsored by St. John's Ladies' Guild. Approximately $600 was realized for guild work.

The affair was opened by Canon George Biddle who was introduced by guild president and general convener, Mrs. H. W. B. Stavert. Presiding at the head tea table were Mrs. T. C. Hewitt, Mrs. Douglas Patterson, Mrs. T. A. Griffiths and Mrs. R. A. Roskelley. Tea arrangements were in charge of Mrs. F. W. Taylor and Mrs. F. C. Chubb, assisted by members of the guild. Bazaar conveners were Mrs. Austin Curtis, Mrs. M. Kirkpatrick Crockett, Mrs. J. McKee, Mrs. Roland Harper, Mrs. W. A. Swan, Mrs. E. H. Manton, Mrs. J. E. Brown and Mrs. W. H. Wells.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Girls—Keep the Curls and Cold-Cream Under Cover

Women should keep the paraphernalia of beauty under cover. The beauty routines which bring such lovely results are so much a woman's business and so usual to her that she may forget what a shock they are to a new husband or even to one of long standing.

It would indeed be a synthetic marriage and one with few truly deep values if it could be destroyed in this way but there is no reason to impose on such a lovely situation. You will discover a big pick-up in the marriage department if you will think along these lines.

You will experience it for several reasons. In the first place men are human and they are attracted to a lovely woman. Your fiancé saw you only at your best. If your husband is still in love with you he will greatly enjoy seeing you look your best. If he has been taking you for granted he may once again see you as an individual, the woman he fell in love with in the first place.

Probably even more important, you yourself will approach daily life and marriage in a different mood. In the stress of daily living you may, without realizing it, have decided that the effort to look your best was not worth it.

Regardless of deeper and more important values, no one will ever make me believe that pin curls and cold cream promote romance; the results do! Nor will they make me believe that the woman who is willing to look her worst, or far from her best, during the time she spends with her husband, has not strongly changed their marriage.

You can get a permanent instead of having to roll your hair up each night, or if you have the sort of hair which has some natural curl and needs only a little help, you can roll it up during the day when he is away. If you are a career woman you can at least wrap a becoming and attractive scarf about your head, over the pin curls.

If you are a career woman you can let cold cream soak in during your bath and use one of the oils which almost disappears at night if a very dry skin demands this.

I think that the overall attitude and picture are what count. There is no need to hide in the closet if you are 'caught once in a while with curlers or cream, but if this is a habit, you are making a mistake. Let him see only the results, not the reasons for beauty, as much of the time as possible.

YESTERDAY'S DEBUTANTES

In Recent Years They Bow At United Services Ball

By ELIZABETH FORBES

The State Ball in August, 1946, was the last time debutantes were presented to capital city society at Government House. Private parties continued to mark the first grown-up bows of the daughters of some Victoria families but it wasn't until November 26, 1948, that anything in the way of a debutante ball again appeared on the social calendar.

On that date, six Victoria debutantes, daughters of members of the United Services Institution of Vancouver Island, "came out" at the annual ball of the USI, held that year in the wardroom at HMCS Naden.

A simple dignity marked the ceremony. The debutantes assembled shortly before 10 p.m. and with their partners, moved slowly to the entrance of the wardroom. A fanfare of music heralded their arrival. Then, they were formally introduced by Lieut. Col. J. Nelson Gibson to Rear-Admiral P. W. Nelles, CB, LLD, president of the Institution and other senior officers of the United Services Institution.

The debutantes and their partners were Miss Nita Anderson, daughter of Lieut. Col. and Mrs. J. C. Anderson of Sidney, B.C., with PO R. W. Neilson; Miss Simone Chevallier, daughter of Lieut. Col. F. T. Chevallier and Mrs. Chevallier, with Mr. David Mollet; Miss Margaret Jean Dobbie, daughter of Major A. G. Dobbie and Mrs. Dobbie, with Mr. Andrew Cantrell; Miss Diana Jackson, daughter of Cmdr. R. Jackson, RCN (R), and Mrs. Jackson, with Sub Lieut. G. C. Morris, RCN; Miss Joan Roberts, daughter of Major W. C. Roberts and Mrs. Roberts with Mr. Edward Peck; Miss Margaret Robertson, daughter of Col. D. M. Robertson and Mrs. Robertson, with Mr. R. D. Garner and Miss Valeria Turnbull, daughter of Lieut. Cmdr. A. R. Turnbull and Mrs. Turnbull with Mr. Kenneth Yeomans.

Highlight on Social Calendar

This was the first time in Victoria that debutantes had ever been presented in a group, outside of Government House. The idea proved popular and each year since then the United Services Institution has sponsored a coterie of debutantes at their annual November ball. The event has now become one of the most brilliant affairs on the early winter social calendar.

In 1949 there were six debutantes. The ball was held in the Empress Hotel and a precedent was established when his Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, Hon. Charles A. Banks and Mrs. Banks attended and received the first curtsies of the sextette.

The young ladies were Miss Enid Jane Oldfield, Miss June McLoughlin, Miss Diana Lee, Miss Patricia Greer, Miss Paula Stevenson and Miss Leslie Pidgeon.

Hon. Clarence Wallace was Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia in 1950 and it was he and his charming wife who began the delightful custom of giving special gifts to the debutantes following their presentations. There were only five young ladies that year, Miss Barbara Rennie, Miss Pamela Birley, Miss Hazel Rosemary Gardner, Miss Margaret Nixon and Miss Anette Cabeldu. For the next four years, Hon. Clarence Wallace and Mrs. Wallace were present at each United Services Ball and received each succeeding group of debutantes. In 1951, 15 young ladies made their graceful bows. They were Miss Joan Pidgeon, Miss Sarah Laundy, Miss Heather Hughes, close friends Miss Sally McCarter and Miss Yvonne Girard, Miss Alison Snape, Miss Susan Burton, Miss Anne Buckle, Miss Nancy Carmichael, Miss Diana Elkington, Miss Elizabeth Creevy, Miss Janet Henderson, Miss Barbara Rose, Miss Margot Young and Miss Joan Bella.

Circle Gets Larger Each Year

The following year there was Miss Orma Thompson, Miss Dalla Quainton, Miss Daphne Legg-Willis, Miss Sonia Stuart, Miss Belinda McConnell, Miss Katharine Goodland, Miss Dawn Hunt, Miss Sally Pollard, Miss Janet Parsons, Miss Janet Bartholomew and Miss Edith Nixon. The year 1953 saw 14 debutantes presented. Miss Marilyn Bassett, Miss Gillian Briggman, Miss Clare Collison, Miss Roberta Crombie, Miss Beth Martin, Miss Katharine Biddle, Miss Sheila Hardie, Miss Jill Robinson, Miss Peta-Ann McGowan, Miss Margaret Nixon, Miss Patricia Turner, Miss Veronica Hummel, Miss Norma Greig and Miss Frances Fredette.

Debutantes of 1954—last to be received by Hon. Clarence Wallace and Mrs. Wallace—were Miss Gillian Mead-Robinson, Miss Nona Shove, Miss Elaine Patterson, Miss Susan Edgell, Miss Heather Hewett, Miss Gillian Scott-Moncreiff, Miss Brenda Durrant, Miss Michelle Robert, Miss Margaret Mary Beckett, Miss Sally Learoyd, Miss Helene de la Hite, Miss Vivian Sanguinette, Miss Jennifer Anne Little, Miss Denise Audrey Yates, Miss Elizabeth Napier-Hemy, Miss Gwynne Roberts, Miss Sara Elizabeth Hughes, Miss Sheila Kingham, Miss Barbara Westinghouse and Miss Margery Edith Ellis. Tomorrow evening the 1955 debutantes (19 attractive young ladies) will be presented at this year's United Services Ball in the Empress Hotel. A new lieutenant-governor, Hon. Frank Mackenzie Ross, KCB, OBE, and his charming wife will be present to receive them, and another group of names will be added to Victoria's ever-growing lists of debutantes.

Xi Beta Chapter Bazaar In YWCA This Saturday

A Christmas tea and bazaar is being held on Saturday afternoon in the YWCA under auspices of Xi Beta Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi Sorority. Entire proceeds are to be donated to the Family and Children's Service Women's Auxiliary to assist in furnishing a new home recently opened for mentally disturbed children in care of the F and CS. Mrs. J. Ronald Kingham, social sponsor of the sorority's city council, will open the affair at 2 o'clock. General convener is Mrs. Lilian Jones and the convener, Mrs. Amy LeGrow. Afternoon tea will be served and stalls will feature Christmas novelties and gifts. Flowers and table centres are in charge of Louise Michaux; aprons, Winnie Wardman; novelties, Grace Waters and Marjorie Aldersmith; home cooking and candy, Muriel Knight; superfluities, Molly Langley; dolls clothes, Amy LeGrow; afternoon tea, Maureen Johnson. The tea hostess will be Vera Waller.

Montrealers Vacation Here

Visiting Victoria at Grey Cup time are Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Hanson of Montreal. Hanson is managing editor of the Montreal Herald. It is a winter-time vacation for this smiling couple who are enjoying the bright flowers they have found at the Empress Hotel, where they are guests. This weekend they will cross to Vancouver for the big game.

Women to Hear Gallery Secretary

Alan Jarvis will be guest speaker at Women's Canadian Club meeting in the Empress Hotel on Monday at 2.30 p.m. Mr. Jarvis was a Rhodes scholar from the University of Toronto, and later held a fellowship in the Graduate School of Fine Arts of New York University. During the war he was in the British Ministry of Aircraft Production and became special assistant and private secretary to Sir Stafford Cripps.

He is now director of the National Gallery of Canada. He has lectured widely in the field of design. His topic, "Is Art Necessary?—A Canadian View," will be of great interest in Victoria.

Tickets for the reception and tea on Dec. 7 will be on sale after this meeting.

White Shrine Plans Bazaar

Members of Nazarine Shrine No. 1 Order of the White Shrine of Jerusalem will hold their fall bazaar in K of P Hall, Cormorant Street, on Dec. 3 from 2 to 4.30 p.m. Mrs. Nan Ward is convener and the affair will be opened by Mrs. Jessie Irwin, chairman of the Supreme Maternity Objective Board. There will be a variety of stalls in charge of Mrs. J. Taylor, Mrs. N. Ripplingale, Mrs. J. Gale, Mrs. M. Geddie, Mrs. A. Murphy, Mrs. E. Morrish, Mrs. M. Kennedy, Mrs. C. Graham, Mrs. A. Stewart. Bingo will be played and Mrs. R. Tubman and Mrs. E. Harris are convening the tea arrangements.

Indian Designs In British Museum

Mrs. M. E. Godman, well-known member of the B.C. Indian Arts and Welfare Society, who is traveling in England and on the Continent until next summer, has sent a letter back to Victoria from the British Museum, accepting a copy of the society's recent publication, "Patterns Based on Northwest Indian Designs". Mrs. Godman also reported she had visited the Wellcome Hospital Medical Nursing School where there is a British Columbia aboriginal collection made 60 years ago. Mrs. Godman left last weekend for Spain.

OF PERSONAL INTEREST

The Presentation Line

There will be excitement aplenty in the Empress Hotel on Friday evening when 19 charming young debutantes arrive in the rotunda at 9 o'clock to be whisked upstairs to dressing rooms where they will put the last minute touches to their lovely gowns, pin on their flowers and make ready for the big moment when they will be presented at the United Services Ball.

The debutante line will form in the writing room at the end of the Crystal Ballroom at 9.45 p.m.

Promptly at 10 o'clock, His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Ross will enter the ballroom with their party and take their places on a raised dais which will be banked with palms and flowers.

Each young girl will walk slowly along a red carpeted aisle as her name is called by Lt.-Cmdr. Garfield Dixon, aide-de-map. She will mount the dais, make a half-curtsey to His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, move several steps further to repeat the curtsy in front of Mrs. Ross, then step down from the dais to be received by her escort.

The debutantes and their escorts will form a semi-circle at the far end of the ballroom to await the debutantes wait which immediately follows the presentation.

When they arrive at the Empress Hotel on Friday evening, the debutantes will receive presentation gifts from His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Ross. Assisting the debutante will be Mrs. R. D. Travis and Mrs. H. S. Beckton.

Position in Calgary

Mrs. Ross Napier is leaving Victoria next week for Calgary where she has accepted a position as librarian with the Glenbow Foundation which is primarily interested in collecting and preserving the history of western Canada. The foundation president is Dr. Douglas Leachman, formerly Dominion archeologist. Until recently Mrs. Napier was head of the catalogue department with Victoria Public Library.

A Coffee Party

Mrs. L. E. Pope was hostess this morning with a coffee party at her home on York Place. Presiding at the coffee table was Mrs. A. W. Pope and assisting in serving the guests were Mrs. J. B. Speck, Mrs. A. Walls and Mrs. Derek Todd.

Liberal Women Name Officers

Mrs. H. Ketchell was elected president of the Victoria Liberal Women's Forum in annual meeting held at Liberal Headquarters. Mrs. Blair Reid is first vice-president; Mrs. E. Dempsey, second; Mrs. J. T. Jones, secretary; Mrs. C. C. Robertson, treasurer; Mrs. E. White, Mrs. I. Finlay, Mrs. J. Rogers, Mrs. T. C. Smith, Mrs. M. McDonald, Mrs. E. Kendall, Mrs. J. Slater and Mrs. J. Gornell, councillors; Mrs. E. Kendall is immediate past president.

Named to the central executive were Mrs. J. Nelson and Mrs. Blair Reid; delegates to Local Council, Mrs. W. Mortimer and Mrs. H. I. McKenzie.

Report given by Mrs. Ketchell showed $350 in receipts during the year. Mrs. Jones announced that bursaries were given to students in both St. Joseph's and Jubilee Schools of Nursing. A donation was made to Gorge Road Hospital; draperies were given for the lounge and assistance in purchase of a new gas stove for headquarters. Mrs. J. Slater was named convener of the annual turkey drive at headquarters, 1322A Government street on Dec. 17.

Afternoon tea was served by Ward Four members, convener by Mrs. Finlay and Mrs. F. Carter.

ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

FRIDAY, NOV. 25, 1955

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)—All kinds of unexpected ideas aspire for expression in your consciousness. Make sure you get additional information from experts, newcomers who understand your problems, desires. Then full speed ahead now.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)—Private backing now yours but you must get in touch with financial experts, personal advisors if you want their full co-operation, worthwhile suggestions. Show others you know the score and will be a willing, delightful associate.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)—Fleety, but brilliant friend, acquaintance shows how to make your public work, dealings with all partners more productive of big results. Use your own logical mind to extract data you need. Then put into motion at once.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21)—Go to that open-minded, intent official, executive and let him know how you feel you can increase surroundings, conditions by better method than one currently used. Don't be backward. Have faith in your convictions and you now win out.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21)—You have so many inspirations, good ideas, creative plans you don't know where to start first. That's not important. Just get going and good results follow. Tonight fine for recreation, romance, happiness.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)—Start afresh to add to your revenue, income, romantic enjoyments. Let your family know you appreciate their support as well. Don't criticize. If you don't like anything, replace with constructive new arrangement and everyone's happy.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)—Impatient partner rightly goads you into swifter action. Stop whirling and balancing so much and produce some results right now. Fine for trips, shopping, visits, business, sales and purchases. Get accessories for apparel.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—Putting all that energy into your job, increasing your holdings instead of in unproductive, mischievous channels brings you far in front of any annoying conditions. Be sure to show others you are down-to-earth in your ideas.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)—This is your day to howl. Have fun and be happy. First, have those beauty, barber-shop, etc. treatments that bring out your greatest charm. Also bring your own capabilities, gifts to other's attention. Romance, adventure, recreation O.K.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)—Stop being so practical. Think out today the over-all aims, ambitions, just what you want out of life on highest level of expression. Then discuss with family. This brings worthwhile, co-ordinate effort that pleases all.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)—You like to help others with their problems. You really have day now to do so. Find out what is troubling them tactfully. If they want, for you can't be intrusive, you then can get them out from under trouble. Fine for personal expansion, too.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20)—You are so careful, precise about little things that you are apt to overlook some big benefit that is awaiting your acceptance, attention. Spend today thinking out where you are headed in property and worldly matters. Then make big strides up.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN FRIDAY... Friday's child is one of those very fortunate youngsters who has it in his, or her, power to accomplish almost anything that becomes a part of his, or her, consciousness. There is a real delight on the part of your progeny to pioneer in all kinds of new and modern outlets and expressions that most youngsters are not yet aware of. Given proper encouragement, your offspring could continually be the head of the class. However, it's necessary you make sure any task once started is complete if real success is to be his, or hers.

58 WANTED TO BUY—
HOUSES

FOUR AND FIVE-ROOM BUNGALOWS from $5,000 to $8,000 are always in demand. If these properties are properly priced at fair terms, selling should be no difficulty. Although an owner may know this, he might sometimes feel the need of a frank adviser who can help him to sell his property. The fully-qualified salesman in a position to closely assess the financing possibilities that will often give the owner all cash, although the property is sold on low terms. There is a saying in the real estate business: "A home properly listed is half-sold." Add to that a good knowledge of financing on the part of the realtor, and it is more like "90% sold." If you are about to put your home on the market, or perhaps your listed property has only had a dull reaction on the public, may I offer my services? Kindly call Mr. Douglas Hawkes at Harry Foster Ltd. 1722 Douglas Street, Phone 2-2181 (after hours 2-4494 or 2-2181).

WANT TO SELL QUICKLY? LIST MULTIPLE for the FASTEST SALE SERVICE and thereby place a picture and full description of your property with 200 Salesmen, all members of the VICTORIA REAL ESTATE BOARD. Ontario Housewife's Toe
Newest Thing in Automation

BEWDLEY, Ont. (CP)—With the flick of a toe a Bewdley housewife has the challenge of automation beaten.

Just a little dexterity of the foot digits and she can cope with the buttons, knobs and switches that control the modern household.

Mrs. Leonard Holdaway, a housewife of this town at the western tip of Rice Lake, a few miles south of Peterborough, is a pioneer in what may be a new era of household history—the advent of the toe.

With a deft thrust of her big toe the television set is turned down—handy if she happens to be answering the phone with one hand and holding junior with the other.

Mrs. Holdaway finds bending over back-breaking work. How does she plug in the vacuum? Of course. With her toes.

Or if her hands are smeared with pastry and the oven should be warming up—no problem. She merely flips off a slipper and with her toe flicks the switch.

These feats, however, are simple for Mrs. Holdaway who can pick up a package, leaf a book, pick up marbles, drop sugar cubes into a teacup or light a match using only her feet.

One of Mrs. Holdaway's favorite tricks is to draw on a blackboard, holding the chalk between her toes. She took art lessons in her former home-town of Toronto and loves to draw.

"She can draw a dog with her toes better than I can with my hands," said her 10-year-old son Tom.

"The round letters are particularly hard to make," said Mrs. Holdaway as she printed "dog" neatly beneath the picture.

She professes no musical talent but can pick out simple melodies on a toy xylophone holding the hammers with her toes.

"One of the biggest difficulties in finding the right kind of seat," she said, "it's hard to get a good grip in the seat is too low."

More Entertainment in Papers Less Politics, U.K. Survey Finds

LONDON (CP)—The growth in the size of British newspapers and a change in their character are expected to lead to fewer instances of domination by financiers, says a survey published by political and economic planning.

The survey, "Ownership of the Press," is one of a series of reports on the British press by PEP, an independent research body largely financed by donations from business firms and by educational grants. In a section on the powers of newspaper proprietors, the survey says:

"One of the changes that has been going on for half a century is that newspapers have gradually become more concerned with entertainment and less concerned with politics."

Bride Gave Name to Camp

NICOSIA, Cyprus (Reuters)—Only a few miles from a spot on the southern shore of Cyprus where Queen Berengaria set foot 763 years ago, the British army has built a garrison families camp and called it Berengaria Village.

After riding a severe Mediterranean storm, Queen Berengaria's ship sought the peaceful shelter of Limassol on May 1, 1191. She soon was joined by her fiancé, King Richard the Lionhearted of England, and their marriage took place two weeks later, near Limassol.

Queen Berengaria was the daughter of Sancho VI of Navarre.

Two miles north of Kolossi Castle, where the honeymoon was spent, the army's Berengaria Village will accommodate 199 families of army and Royal Air Force, Middle East headquarters staff, who are being transferred from the Suez canal zone Oct. 1.

Berengaria Village huts are of temporary construction, the material consisting of asbestos sheeting on timber panels.

Objections to this application may be filed with the said Water Recorder or with the Controller of Water Rights at Victoria, B.C., within thirty days of the date of the first publication in a local newspaper.

THEY WERE SWEETHEARTS AT 16

Couple Married 80 Years Marks Special Thanksgiving

SAGLE, Idaho (UP)—Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Hartley will offer a special prayer of thanks on American Thanksgiving to day as the one-time childhood sweethearts mark their 80th wedding anniversary to rule as the longest-married couple in the United States.

The observance will be tempered by the illness of "Grandpa" Hartley.

The Hartleys, both 96, live here at the home of their "baby" son, Leo, who is nearly 60.

"I have plenty to be thankful for," said the sprightly Mrs. Hartley. "Eighty years is a long time, but I wouldn't trade a minute of it."

"I used to wear overalls when I went horseback riding out there in the open because it was such a job to ride side-saddle with all those skirts," she said. "Of course, Mr. Hartley didn't like the idea, so if I had on my real full riding skirt I'd be very proper until I was sure I was out of his sight before I'd ride astride."

"That's about as close as we ever came to an argument," she said.

Record Tourist Year Indicated For Canada; All Provinces Up

OTTAWA (CP)—It isn't over yet but by all yardsticks 1955, looks like a record tourist year for Canada.

Almost every province reports a bigger stream of tourist traffic than in 1954 which itself was only slightly behind the record year of 1953. Final figures are expected to set records in the number of tourists and the money they spent in the playgrounds of Canada, a national take that has been running around $600,000,000 a year.

Influx of United States tourists, biggest providers of the tourist dollar, was just as heavy this year if not heavier than in the past. And a number of provinces, particularly in the Maritimes and in the West, this year noted a bigger-than-usual percentage of Canadian visitors who apparently heeded a new campaign to "See Canada First."

DOMESTIC TRADE UP

The foreign tourist trade is expected to equal or exceed the record $302,000,000 in 1953. Though no accurate and separate figures are kept on the domestic tourist trade it is expected this year to go beyond the 1954 estimate of $300,000,000.

Federal officials see a number of reasons for the good year. First, the weather was kind, making up for the summer rain in most areas in 1954. Then, a drive by various tourist-minded organizations for more Canadian business apparently got some results.

In the West, Alberta and Saskatchewan provided added attractions this year with golden jubilee celebrations marking their 50th year as Canadian provinces. These attracted many former residents.

D. Leo Dolan, head of the Canadian government travel bureau and Canada's No. 1 tourist booster, summed it up when he said 1955 looks like this country's finest tourist year. It began well with winter-month resorts, particularly in Quebec, filled to capacity. The summer season, with good weather, was ideal in most areas, if anything perhaps a little too hot.

MORE ENTER BY CAR

Foreign car entries in Canada at 2,192,448 for the nine-month period ended Sept. 30 were ahead of the nine-month record of 2,160,000 cars in 1953.

In September alone the influx of foreign cars totalled 309,446, seven per cent above the record of September, 1953. The fall stream of hunters that annually invades Canada's natural hunting grounds has yet to be counted.

It is expected travel out of Canada will also show an increase this year. But with stepped-up travel by Canadians in their own country the deficit of Canadian spending at home compared with Canadian spending abroad isn't expected to go up very much. Last year Canadians were estimated to have spent $380,000,000 abroad, mostly in the U.S., about $80,000,000 more than Canadian tourists spent seeing their own country.

Still greater efforts are to be made to get a bigger share of the Canadian tourist dollar. The Canadian Tourist Association has set up a committee to study ways of getting the "See Canada First" message home more solidly.

The same theme will likely be on the agenda of the annual national tourist conference here late next month which will be attended by federal and provincial tourist officials.

PROVINCIAL REVIEW

Here is the tentative 1955 tourist picture by provinces:

Newfoundland, because of inadequate accommodation and lack of good roads, is not yet encouraging tourists. But this year it had more inquiries than ever. Progress is being made with tourist-catering establishments. At present most of the province's tourist dollars come from fishermen, hunters and yachtsmen but no estimate of the amount is available.

Prince Edward Island estimates it will have catered to 10,000 tourists by the end of the season and its tourist trade will be worth $3,500,000. Last year the province had 90,000 visitors and trade valued at $4,500,000.

Nova Scotia anticipates a 10- to 15-per-cent increase in 1955 vehicular traffic which in 1954 totalled 91,951 tourist cars. An appreciable rise is expected over 1954's estimated tourist trade total of $44,000,000. Nova Scotia officials report a sharp increase in the number of visiting Ontario autos.

New Brunswick, whose tourist trade totalled $30,000,000 to $38,000,000 last year, expects as much if not more in 1955. Travel in the first eight months was five per cent ahead of last year when an estimated 235,000 tourist cars averaging three persons a car crossed into the province. New Brunswick also reported more Canadian cars in evidence this year.

Quebec provincial officials have no figures at this date. But federal authorities said a massive tourist year is indicated for the province's resorts and winter and summer playgrounds which last year took in an estimated $145,000,000. Trade this year is expected to top that figure.

Ontario's total estimated tourist trade has been running around $250,000,000 a year for the last three or four years, the largest in Canada. The province reports that 1955 looks like "another very good year." For the first eight months 1,174,938 tourist cars were reported in the province, compared with 1,134,159 in the same period of 1954 and the previous record of 1,158,199 in the first eight months of 1953.

Manitoba estimates 1,000,000 tourists and trade worth $30,000,000 for 1955. The province had a record last year with 893,218 tourists and a take worth $26,575,000. The influx ratio last year was divided between 523,000 U.S. tourists and 369,000 Canadians from other provinces.

inces. Officials expect about the same ratio this year.

Saskatchewan expects increased 1955 tourist traffic on the basis of the attractions of its golden jubilee. Up to the end of August, Saskatchewan-U.S. border points reported 13,790 U.S. cars entering for "long-term visits." This was a decrease over last year but officials said more American visitors entered the province through Manitoba, taking advantage of new links in the trans-Canada highway. On the full year, entering from the U.S. were double last year's volume for the eight month period.

British Columbia expects a sur record tourist year with more than 1,000,000 visitors. The high year to now was 1953 when approximately 1,000,000 tourists spent an estimated $70,000,000. Influx of U.S. tourists increased 3.5 per cent in the first eight months compared with 1954, with some 210,000 cars arriving up to the end of August.

26 Victoria Daily Times

Saskatchewan expects tourists to spend $12,000,000, about $2,000,000 more than last year. Saskatchewan is another province reporting more Canadian tourists.

Alberta last year had a record tourist revenue of some $42,000,000 and expects an increase this year with the take possibly reaching $50,000,000 on the strength of jubilee celebrations. Tourist cars entering from the U.S. were double last year's volume for the eight month period.

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books? Then ask Andy!

Andy, who is a pixie, not a person, will answer two questions daily submitted by child readers of Canada and the U.S. Children who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive as prizes, for the main question, either a 16-volume set of "The Children's Hour" or a 20-volume set of "The American People's Encyclopedia." Prizes for the secondary question will be an "American People's Encyclopedia Year Book" or a year's subscription to "Treasure Trails" plus "Andy's Everyday Encyclopedia."

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times, Victoria.

Andy sends a complete 16-volume set of "The Children's Hour" to Jackie Mullins, aged nine, of Chesapeake, W. Va., for his question:

What Is a Snake Doctor?

A snake doctor is not always a person who goes around curing sick snakes. Snake doctor is a local name for an insect. Some people also call this fellow a snake dragon. Others may call any kind of dragonfly a snake doctor. This is very confusing. It shows why the experts have given a special name to each creature and each plant. And each plant and creature is known by its proper name to experts throughout the world.

Jackie is curious about an insect that hovers around his back porch. He has been told it is a snake doctor. The expert's name for a snake doctor is the hellgramite. And the hellgramite does not usually hang around back porches. He loves the damp reeds and plants of streams. He spends his early life as a nymph—a small copy of his parents. During this stage he stays hidden under damp rocks and stones, usually near the water.

When he reaches his grown-up stage, he takes to the air on delicately veined gauzy wings. His adult life is spent skimming the water of his favorite stream. This hellgramite has a number of aliases—though he is far from being a criminal. He is called the dobson fly and the salmon fly. Certain fish, it seems, enjoy eating him for dinner. Trout and salmon will leap up and grab him as he skims over the water. That is how he was named a salmon fly—he is a salmon food fly.

However, this bug of Jackie's can hover standing still in the air. The snake doctor—salmon fly—dobson fly—hellgramite cannot do this. But a real dragon fly can. So Jackie's interesting insect might be almost any kind of a dragon fly. However, he is not a dragon fly if he stings. Neither a hellgramite nor a dragon fly can really sting. The dragon fly sometimes arches his slender back as though he meant to sting. But he doesn't. For he has no stinger. The hellgramite has powerful jaws and might take a nip. But he cannot sting.

How does the blood travel from the feet back to the heart?

It is easy to understand how the blood gets from the heart to the feet. The pumping heart sends it on its way. What's more it runs downhill. Getting back to the heart must be quite a problem. For the blood must run uphill most of the time. But it makes the round trip very well.

Blood is carried back to the heart by veins. These blood vessels have many little built-in valves. These valves prevent the blood from flowing away from the heart. They help to keep it traveling in the right direction.

The branching of the veins also helps to push the blood back to the heart. The return trip starts in a fine mesh of tiny blood vessels. These fine veins join together to form larger veins. This joining up of little streams helps speed up the flow.

At the same time, the heart is still pumping out fresh blood. This shoves at the returning blood from behind. So the wonderful body combines three tricks to keep the used blood flowing back to the heart. Together they are strong enough to keep the used blood flowing uphill even from the toes.

Hawrelak Wants Welfare To Be Provincial Concern

EDMONTON (CP)—The Gordon economic commission was urged today to recommend that the provinces take over all the costs of social welfare programs in Canadian municipalities.

The mayor suggested also that the federal government provide the municipalities with low-cost loans to help them meet the demands of capital expansion for such things as sewers, roads and water mains.

Walter Gordon, commission chairman, asked whether Mayor Hawrelak felt there would need to be a re-allocation of tax sources if the provinces were agreeable to take over the social welfare costs.

"We might require both," Mayor Hawrelak replied.

He said industrial capital is flowing into Edmonton rapidly and that business investment, reaching an estimated $85,000,000 in 1955, likely would rise to $100,000,000 in 1956.

USSR Rejects French Plan on Disarmament

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Russia quickly rejected today a compromise disarmament proposal which France had advanced in the hope of breaking the 10-year deadlock on arms reductions.

Soviet delegate Arkay Sobolev told the UN disarmament commission the French proposal only confirmed the Soviet view that the western powers have retreated in recent months from their earlier positions.

"It is clear," Sobolev said, "that such an approach cannot offer positive results."

He also stressed previous Soviet assertions that President Eisenhower's plan for an exchange of military blueprints between the United States and Russia—together with mutual aerial inspection—was unacceptable to Russia unless it was a part of a general disarmament system.

The compromise plan suggested by French delegate Jules Moch was that the big powers agree on a preparatory period in which some control measures, including the Eisenhower plan, would be put into effect before the main stages of disarmament began.

3 GET GOLD BAND IN 'YEAR

Wanna Get Married, Girls? Give the Trombone a Whirl

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP)—Miss Ivy Benson, who waves the stick for a leading British girl band, says the ladies who play the slide trombone somehow have more sex appeal than their musical sisters.

"I should know," Ivy explained. "Five girl trombonists have left my band this year to get married."

Miss Benson says this, and other factors, have driven her to the conclusion that there must be something about a trombone that drives a man crazy.

His resignation came during a heated discussion of management of the municipal gravel pit at a special meeting called by Reeve Joseph Casey.

Fleming had accused the engineering department of failing to keep full written account for large quantities of gravel taken from the municipal pit.

He estimated that about 200,000 yards have not been accounted for.

The former councillor said "unless changes in the management of the handling of affairs of the municipality are effected I can no longer serve any useful purpose as councillor."

Fleming strongly objected to a written report by municipal engineer H. D. Dawson who described Mr. Fleming's charges as "entirely ridiculous" and purely "imaginary."

He scribbled his resignation on the council table before a silent group of spectators.

He told the council he bore no malice towards anyone.

Spectators grasped his hands as he withdrew from the table. They told him he should not have resigned. One woman wept.

EXPLOSIVE MEETING

The explosive meeting also heard an outburst from spectator William Robertson, a contractor, who charged Reeve Casey with "bulldozing" the council.

"You think you are the whole cheese here," he said.

The reve ordered a policeman to evict Mr. Robertson who shouted at the reve: "You haven't the guts to do it yourself."

Fleming, whose term of office did not expire until next year, was the council's strongest critic of the administration system of Saanich.

He had planned to request a special meeting next week to question municipal officials with regard to a deficit facing the $2,100,000 sewage system.

He was responsible for work on the project being suspended after the municipal engineer informed a council committee he did not know the amount of the deficit.

FOUR VACANCIES

Mr. Fleming's resignation means there will be four vacant seats to be contested in the December elections.

He said he did not intend to seek re-election in the December elections.

"I would only run if there is said. But I think I have done my duty to bring attention of the ratepayers on how things are managed at the municipal hall."

He said his sole purpose in entering municipal politics was to see for himself how the affairs of taxpayers were managed.

"I've seen enough," he said. "I had no intentions of running again next year."

Here are the main developments from the meeting:

1. The engineer admitted that

SWIMMER IN VANCOUVER

Toronto's famed long-distance swimmer is guest of honor at the mainland city's Grey Cup festival. Despite being on holiday Marilyn brought along three days' homework. She is taking a college course specializing in physiotherapy.

'HOMEWORK COMES FIRST'

Marilyn Interested In Strait Attempt

BY BILL WALKER
Times Sports Editor

VANCOUVER, B.C.—Swimming star Marilyn Bell, as charming as her record "would like very much to try the Strait of Juan de Fuca."

"I'm receptive to the opportunity," Marilyn said, "but my schoolwork comes first at the moment."

"But it is a challenge," she quickly added.

Still it doesn't appear at the present time that Marilyn will make any definite commitments in this regard until next summer.

"First I have my schoolwork to think about," said Marilyn. "I'm interested in physiotherapy, and find the course extremely hard. I am taking special teaching at night and dearly want to graduate in June before I attempt or think of any more swims."

Marilyn asked numerous questions about the Strait, conquered only by Tacoma's Bert Thomas. She wanted to know about the tides, the temperature, the efforts of others, and the details of Thomas' successful swim.

Regarding the temperature, she stated that when she came the youngest woman ever to cross the English Channel this summer, the cold "didn't bother me at all" during the swim.

"I found it very cold when I first started training," she said. "But I soon became acclimated."

During her successful crossing from France to England in 14 1/2 hours the temperature ranged from 52-58 degrees. When she swam Lake Ontario the temperature range was between 60 and 68 degrees.

A guest of honor at the Grey Cup festival here, Marilyn brought three days' homework with her. That homework, part of a long-range study, includes Marilyn's plans to teach the handicapped to swim. An integral phase of her physiotherapy program.

A student at Loretto College, a girls' school in Toronto, 18-year old Marilyn is on her first trip west of North Bay, Ont. Asked for a preference, whether she'd first like to try the English Channel again, from England to France, or the Juan de Fuca swim, Marilyn stated: "They say that once you swim the channel one way, you get channel fever. You have to try it the other way. But that Strait (Juan de Fuca)—yes, you can say I'd love to try it."

Lauder's Rink Wins In Vancouver 'Spiel'

Gerry Lauder's Victoria four-man team moved into the eighth of the Totem primary event today in the $11,500 Totem bonspiel at Chilliwack, B.C.

For the Lauder rink, unbeaten up to Wednesday, it was the eighth victory in nine games.

In the Vancouver secondary event, Wally Antrim of Parksville entered the 16th with 10-8 victory over Budd of Holden, Alta.

"Dorothy had a beautiful tone. Her melodic figures were perfect. She was a sensible girl. She could play by ear or read music."

One day, said Miss Benson, she noticed her first trombonist studying what was on her music rack with unusual attention as she blew and pushed.

"But she wasn't studying music. She was reading a furniture catalogue. She'd driven a young man crazy with her trombone, he'd proposed and she was getting ready to fit up a flat. She's leaving us any day now."

Asked if the same thing didn't happen to other pretty instrumentalists, she replied: "Men don't fall over themselves for saxophonists. They don't swoon over viola players. It's trombones."

DOCTOR SHOT TO DEATH IN TORONTO HOSPITAL

TORONTO (CP)—A lone gunman, believed a patient in the Ontario workmen's compensation hospital for the last two years, shot and killed Dr. Rex Hylton today.

Dr. Hylton had just completed treating another patient in a clinic, police said when a man waiting in the group pulled a .30-.30 calibre rifle from under his topcoat, pointed it at the doctor's chest and fired at point-blank range. The doctor died on the spot.

The man was grabbed by other patients and hospital attendants.

'Paper Bag Bandit' Foiled by Girl, 17

Scared Cashier Runs Screaming
From Nanaimo Laundry Office

NANAIMO—A holdup man, closely resembling the "paper bag bandit" who recently carried out three successful Victoria holdups, was foiled by a scared girl cashier here Tuesday night.

He tried to rob Nelson's Imperial Laundry, Conax Road, but fled empty-handed.

Mary Pichette, 17, of South Wellington, was on duty alone in the call office of the laundry at 4:55 p.m. when a man entered, drew a small gun, placed a paper bag on the counter, and ordered her to fill it with money.

Bewildered by his action, she did nothing. He repeated his demand, then reached across the counter and pulled her by the wrist toward the cash register. She still did not move.

QUICK TURN

"When he reached across the counter and began to strike at the cash register, she saw that with one quick turn she could be around a corner of the office and out of his reach," said Gordon Christopher, manager of the firm.

"She watched him closely, then the second he took his eyes away from her, she escaped, ran into the back of the building, and screamed for the watchman."

By the time the watchman returned the man had gone, empty-handed.

From $100 to $120 was in the cash register, Mr. Christopher said.

Miss Pichette described the holdup man as being five feet eight inches in height, weighing about 160 to 170 pounds, "fairly good looking," with dark hair, no distinguishing features, and about 25 years of age. He wore brown gloves.

The attempted holdup was not reported to police until Wednesday.

"After it was over, Miss Pichette was so upset she could think of nothing but letting me know what had happened," Mr. Christopher said. "I was driving south from Courtenay at

Taku Shelved For $50 Million Nass River Project

By TOM GOULD, Times Legislative Reporter

Frobisher Ltd. and Ventures Ltd. will concentrate studies on a $50,000,000 hydro-electric project on the Nass River in northwestern B.C., and apparently have shelved immediate plans for a $270,000,000 project at Taku Inlet.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett announced today the Ventures Group, with Northwest Power Industries, Ltd., as the operating company, will complete all surveys on Taku and on the Nass next year.

"From that they will proceed with designs, and then construction which we hope will start in 1957," said the premier.

He said work will be speeded up on the Nass River project, an entirely new plan presented by the Ventures Group. It calls for a 450,000 horsepower hydro dam on the Nass River, backed by storage dams on Bowser and Meziadin Lakes.

PLANT ON ALICE ARM

A transmission line would carry power 32 miles to Alice Arm, where the firm plans an industrial and town site to process minerals by electric smelting processes.

Premier Bennett said he "hoped" there would be no delay on the giant Taku Inlet project, which called for a network of dams and power plants lacing the northwest corner of the province.

He said the project has suffered a delay through federal bill 3, enacted at the last session of parliament, which makes all dams and hydro projects on international rivers subject to federal permit.

"I hope these differences will be resolved," said the Premier. He termed bill 3 "ridiculous," and "foolish."

CONFIDENTIAL DISCUSSIONS

But he would not explain how the bill had caused a set-back to the Taku Inlet project, which involved reversing the flow of the Yukon River in B.C. The Yukon flows across the Alaskan border.

"Any discussion on that was on a confidential basis," said the premier.

It is understood B.C. officials fear the U.S. will claim downstream benefits if the Yukon's flow is diverted. This would be done by having the Yukon brought under jurisdiction of the International Joint Commission.

Premier Bennett said the Taku project was "an open book" before the bill was passed.

The Alice Arm industrial site now chosen by Frobisher engineers for the Nass River project is 132 land miles from another smelter city, Kitimat, the site of the Aluminum Company of Canada's project.

EISENHOWER AIDE

Mr. Bennett's announcement followed a meeting Wednesday with Robert B. Anderson, president of the Frobisher-Ventures group and formerly a member of President Eisenhower's cabinet.

Mr. Anderson was named U.S. secretary of the navy in 1952, and later became deputy secretary of defence. He resigned the defence post early this year to succeed Thayer Lindsley as head of Frobisher-Ventures.

ROBERT B. ANDERSON
... succeeds Lindsley

Premier Bennett said Mr. Anderson is "one of the outstanding men" in the U.S. and "one of Eisenhower's brightest men."

He said that with Mr. Anderson heading the mining chain, the Frobisher project will be greatly accelerated.

Frobisher has spent more than $2,000,000 in engineering survey in the north in the past two years, the premier said.

U.K. Sergeant Shot in Back By Cypriots

NICOSIA, Cyprus (Reuters)—A British army sergeant was shot down and killed by terrorists in a high-powered car as he walked home for lunch today.

The sergeant was cut down by tommy-gun bullets in his back only a couple of yards from the house where he lived with his wife, a few hundred yards south of one of the Cyprus capital's busiest main streets.

The dead man was the third British sergeant to be slain in the last six days and the fourth British soldier killed since Greek Cypriot terrorists last March began an underground war for independence and union with Greece.

His death, coupled with the wounding of another British soldier in a bomb attack on two patrol cars today, aroused a furious wave of indignation in British army camps throughout the British colony.

Rescue at Sea

SAN FRANCISCO (BUP)—Globe wireless here said Wednesday night it had received a report of the rescue of two lifeboats containing 45 survivors from the disabled vessel Fakira in the Pacific off the coast of Mexico.

Logger 'Confesses' to Murdering Three Pals; Two Bodies Found

POWELL RIVER B.C. (CP)—RCMP officers said Wednesday night they were questioning a man, who told them he killed three loggers who were reported missing a week ago from their camp on Desolation Sound, 30 miles north of here.

They would give no details other than saying that the man walked into headquarters with his story.

Bodies of two men have been found, police said, and a search is continuing for a third.

They said an autopsy on the body of Charles Haines, 34, of Portland, Ore., found Tuesday, showed he met death through drowning.

A second body, still unidentified, was recovered Wednesday after dragging operations near the Glen Levitt Logging Company camp at Galley bay on Desolation Sound, where the men were employed. A boat was found beach nearby.

Reported missing along with Haines were Uno Nylund, 34, of Courtenay, B.C. and Fred Jennings, 40, of Vancouver. They disappeared last Tuesday and it was believed they were drowned when their boat upset while they were rowing from a floathouse to the Mainland camp during a snowstorm.

New Red H-Blast Warning to U.S.?

WASHINGTON (AP)—Russia's mightiest nuclear test blast, probably involving a hydrogen bomb, has sharpened the atomic arms race in the opinion of American officials.

Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission announced Wednesday night that the Soviet Union has set off another explosion in its current test series.

He described this blast as "the largest thus far in the U.S.S.R. in the range of megatons." The announcement of this latest Soviet test came on the heels of Siberia.

TOKYO (AP)—The Japanese meteorological observatory said today that radioactive rain fell on two Japanese cities Monday. A weather official said it came from the Soviet test.
